A Loss to the Nation Demanded Much. Got Clubbed
An Ancient Dread
Watch and See a Fight

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

Sad news for the nation yesterday when doctors announced that William Howard Taft might not live another day.

Mr. Taft was a kindly man, good-natured, tolerant and a man of power. There was great strength back of his genial smile.

His life was a succession of honors, most of them earned and well deserved.

* * *

Two hundred radicals, called "reds," decided to parade in New York City yesterday, protesting against lack of employment.

Red signs across a building in Union Square, next door to Tammany Hall, called upon workmen to get out and demonstrate.

Police gathered as the crowd was about to start and demonstrated successfully.

Reporters say that many heads were "cracked," also that 180 uniformed police and twenty-five plain clothes detectives had instructions to "hit at the feet, not at the head."

A police captain had instructed his men not to pile up a list of hospital cases.

* * *

The paraders had had no parade permit and were therefore gathered illegally. They started their parade about the City hall.

Banners read: "Workers, fight or starve! Demand work or wages."

"We refuse to starve."

"We say fight."

"We demand free rent for unemployed."

"We demand free food and clothing for our children."

"We demand unemployment insurance."

* * *

In this country we know nothing about the British "dole" for unemployed, and expect each man to shift for himself. The marchers were demanding a good deal.

However, it would be desirable in these cases to use the club as little as possible and to "pile up hospital cases" as few as possible.

* * *

We are a wonderfully rich, prosperous nation.

Many of us cannot even imagine what it is to be hungry or worried about your children. But something can always happen, and it is possible to start something that you can't stop.

* * *

SIGNALS to protect pedestrians from automobiles are to be installed in big cities and "amber colored" lights were suggested. The police says: "Drivers will pay no attention to anything but RED. That makes them stop."

Why is it that red impresses men, and even the lower animals? Is it, perhaps, because men, for forty million years, and animals through hundreds of millions of years before men came, have known and inherited one great dread, the red maze of a forest or prairie fire?

* * *

The Rev. Dr. Ryan, professor in the Catholic University of America, calls prohibition enforcement "Toryism" and says "the President is not the supreme arbiter of the moral duty of men."

The president, reading that, will perhaps murmur that under our system of government Father Ryan is not "the supreme arbiter of the moral duty of men, either."

* * *

Prohibition promises to develop an interesting political fight. Watch and wait and you will see things not seen hitherto.

But do not believe that the prohibition amendment will be repealed. It will not.

* * *

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER Jr. says, and every well-informed man believes it, since Mr. Rockefeller tells the truth, that neither he nor his father caused the recent cut in crude oil prices. They learned of such cuts from newspapers. The elder Mr. Rockefeller does not pull any strings from "behind the scenes," but probably knows what goes on with mild interest. Past 90 years of age, Mr. Rockefeller is interested in making his money useful. He has sailed the ocean of millions for many years. A few dollar waves more or less make as little difference to him as salt waves do to an old captain.

* * *

The president of the Pennsylvania, General Atterbury, head of one of the greatest railroad systems in the world, says prohibition should be repealed, has not been a help to railroads, and has not affected men's discipline.

He includes "official corruption and youthful revolt" among prohibition evils.

Communists Plan Rally of Nation's Unemployed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28—(AP)—Headquarters of the local communist organization announced today that March 6 had been chosen as "National Unemployment Day" and that the unemployed in every city of the country would be asked to march upon their municipal administration centers on that date and demand "work or wages."

PRISONER ESCAPES

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—(AP)—Clyde Irwin, 31, Burlington, Vt., escaped from a train here early today while on the way to federal penitentiary at Atlanta to serve a seven year term for counterfeiting and rumrunning. He escaped while the train was in the yards here.

PROPOSED DRY LAWS ARE HIT BY MITCHELL

Says Justice Department Not To Try Fanatical Enforcement Innovations

HOWELL BILL ATTACKED

Will Seek To Keep Amendment from Becoming More Unpopular in U. S.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(INS)—Transfer of prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice is not to be accompanied by fanatical innovations in enforcement methods, nor by extra-constitutional practices that would add to the unpopularity of the dry laws.

Notice to this effect was served on congress today by Attorney General Mitchell through the medium of a letter to the senate district committee, in which he vigorously objected to some of the provisions of the Howell bill—a drastic enforcement measure intended to make Washington a "model city."

Criticism Aroused

This bill, drawn up by Senator R. B. Howell, Republican of Nebraska, has aroused widespread criticism and antagonism on the part of Washingtonians, who charge that overzealous legislators are making the capital "a guinea pig" for radical civic experiments which they would not think of trying on their own communities at home.

Two of its provisions go further than any national prohibition legislation yet proposed. One would virtually nullify the search warrant safeguard against the indiscriminate invasion of private homes, and the other would reverse the traditional process whereby the law presumes every man innocent until proved guilty.

Referring to the provisions he said:

"The effect (of this) would be to subject the dwellings of persons residing in the District of Columbia to more drastic searches than congress has yet authorized in the United States, Alaska, and some of the insular possessions. I do not believe this discrimination would be justified.

Constitutional Question

"A serious constitutional question arises as to the validity of a provision which attempts to put the government in an advantageous position as a result of seizure in violation of constitutional guarantees, but aside from that, and as a matter of principle, the government, by violating the constitutional rights of the citizen should not be placed in a better position than it would otherwise be in."

Mitchell's letter probably spells the death of the Howell bill, and quite possibly other legislation which the moderates in congress consider fanatical.

MORE STAFF SHIFTS MADE BY THE STAR

Promotions Made in Newspaper Office as Result of Recent Changes

Coincident with the change in the managing editorship of The Star Saturday, other staff changes and additions were announced today.

W. T. Buchanan, who has been a reporter and special writer for The Star for two and a half years, will become city editor, succeeding Harry S. Elliott, who is to be managing editor as a consequence of the promotion of Murray Powers to head of the new Columbus bureau of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

Gilson Wright, of Lima, is to take Mr. Buchanan's place on the news staff. Mr. Wright has been a student at Ohio Wesleyan university, where he has been prominently identified with the staff of the Wesleyan Transcript and the college publicity bureau. He was formerly employed on the staff of the Lima News.

Karl R. McElroy, now sports editor of The Star, will take charge of the state editor's desk, handling all news from Marion's district, including nearby counties. He has been a member of The Star's staff more than two years, coming here from Kenton.

Robert Kirkpatrick, of Utica, O., former student at Ohio State university and member of the O. S. U. daily paper staff, The Lantern, will succeed Mr. McElroy as sports editor. Kirkpatrick has been employed part time on the sports staff of the Ohio State Journal during his time at college.

Miss Edna S. Dutton will fill the position of society editor, special writer and columnist. In her capacity as society editor she will have full charge of The Star's women's page.

Trial of Man Charged with Slaying Nears End

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28—(AP)—The trial here of Frank Andrews, charged with the murder of his 18-months-old son, Chester, entered its final stages today.

The case is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon.

Andrews is charged with deliberately driving his motor car over a 75-foot cliff last Aug. 28, with the infant in it.

Fantastic Creations of Marble Found in Cavern

CARLSBAD, N. M., Feb. 28—(AP)—Frank Ernest Nicholson, explorer, has seen a new underground world.

Surrounded by fantastic creations of cave marble and flowstone perhaps unseen by man previously during the million or more of years of their formation, and perhaps never before touched by light, Nicholson penetrated a previously unexplored room of the Carlsbad cavern.

It was the first bit of exploring unknown places of the underground labyrinth to be done by this New York explorer, who with his party of 11 assistants, hoped to find the end of the cavern.

"It seems that every step brings a new revelation," Nicholson said today, "and man feels himself to be an infinitesimal being in these gaping underground creations, magnificent, fantastic and start-

Officer Wants Gifts Back

Police Sergeant Brings Suit to Recover Lamps Given Friend

A SEVERED friendship ended in a court fight yesterday when Ora DeWees, night desk sergeant of the police force, filed a replevin suit in municipal court to repossess "conditional gifts" given Mrs. Corrine McCoy, manager of the Princess theater, a west side movie house.

DeWees, in his petition, claims Mrs. McCoy is wrongfully retaining several lamps, which were "conditional gifts," she was to return to him when he returned a diamond ring said to be valued at several hundred dollars, which she gave him at Christmas.

* * *

DEWEES claims that he has returned the ring to Mrs. McCoy.

Mrs. McCoy has furnished $125 bond in municipal court where the suit was filed, to secure the lamps, which she still retains. An answer to the petition is expected to be filed by Mrs. McCoy.

The lamps in question are described as one gold bent library lamp with mirror base, valued at $20; one set of dining room lights, one table center lamp with silver base, valued at $25; a silver vase fruit dish, valued at $10. The total is $55.

LOCKJAW FATAL TO EILEEN FURNISS

Girl, 10, Dies at Home of Foster Parents Northeast of Morral

MORRAL, Feb. 28—Eileen Furniss, 10, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, died of lockjaw at 1:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her foster parents, northeast of here. She was taken seriously ill Wednesday after stepping on a nail a week ago.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church at Brush Ridge, the Rev. Burton Nuckols, Morral, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Levi Hite. Interment will be made in the cemetery at Brush Ridge.

The child was born July 24, 1919, in Morral, the daughter of John Furniss and Carrie Lowe Furniss. Surviving are the foster parents, residing at Green Camp, and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Jay Martin, Morral; Mamie, Bernice, Alonzo, Delmar, Harry, George, Donald and John, at home.

FUNDS READY SOON

County Auditor To Divide Taxes on March 4

Distribution of funds collected in the December tax collection will be made to the various taxing districts in the county on March 4, it was stated today by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas.

The distribution to be made on that date will be the regular March settlement with the districts. The settlement which was completed Wednesday in the auditor's office has been approved by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy.

LET CONTRACTS FOR BUILDING

Carl Huth, Tiffin Contractor, To Do General Construction Work

BOARD MAKES AWARDS

Excavation for New School To Start Next Week, Builder Says

Carl Huth, Tiffin contractor, will build the new Marion city grade school building at Pennsylvania av. and Indiana av. as a result of contract lettings last night. Huth was awarded the contract by the city board of education on his bid of $65,000. Contracts were also let for the installation of plumbing, equipment, heating, ventilating and vacuum cleaning equipment and for electrical equipment.

Huth stated today that he would start work on the new building as soon as his contract with the board of education is signed. It is expected that work of excavating the basement will start some time next week.

The contract for plumbing was awarded to W. L. Parkinson, of Mansfield. His bid was $7,000. Parkinson also had the contract for installing plumbing equipment in three of the additions built to city grade schools this winter.

The contract for heating, ventilating and vacuum equipment was awarded to Pitsch-Niles Co., of Akron, at a bid of $14,800. The Barnes-Joy Co., of Columbus, will install the electrical equipment. The bid was $5,738.

The contracts let by the board of education last night involve an expenditure of $83,163. This figure does not include extra equipment such as seats, desks, blackboards and other items. The estimated cost of the new school is $110,000.

GRAND JURY NOT TO GET HANNAH'S CASE

Prosecutor Decides Extra Time Will Be Used To Find Body

WOOSTER, Feb. 28—(AP)—Charges of child stealing placed against Charles Hannah and Earl Conald in connection with the disappearance of four-year-old Melvin Horst will not be considered by the Wayne county grand jury which convenes Monday, Prosecutor Marion Graven has decided.

Graven said efforts to learn what became of Melvin, missing for months, would prevent concentration on the child stealing charges.

Hannah has repudiated several "confessions" to killing Melvin and has attempted to implicate Conald.

Authorities did not reveal their next steps today.

COMPANIES SUE

Seek To Prevent Collection of Lower Gas Rates

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28—(AP)—The Columbus Gas & Fuel Co. and the Federal Gas & Fuel Co., Columbus, today filed an appeal in United States court of appeals, to the dismissal by U. S. Judge Benson W. Hough of their suit to require the city of Columbus to enforce an ordinance providing for a sliding gas rate of from 65 to 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

The appeal said that on June 3, 1920, the Columbus city council passed an ordinance fixing the gas rate at 48 cents per 1,000 cubic feet from Sept. 12, 1929 to Jan. 1, 1930, after which time the 65-75 cent sliding scale, with a minimum charge of 75 cents per month, was to go into effect. On Aug. 5, 1929, it is charged, the council repealed the ordinance.

The companies alleged that the repealing of the 65-75 cent rate ordinance was illegal.

FAMOUS SMILE SHOWS FAINTLY

Former President's Cheery Personality Evident Even in Death's Shadow

LIFE EBBING AWAY

Recognizes Physician, but Is Unable To Speak; Takes Little Nourishment

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP)—Doctors Hagner and Claytor announced at 2:20 this afternoon that there had been no change in William Howard Taft's condition since this morning.

* * *

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP)—The life of William Howard Taft was ebbing away today but a flicker of the nationally-known smile lingered still on his pale and worn countenance.

His condition shortly before noon was reported by his physicians as "slightly weaker" and it was only a question of how long his vitality could hold out against the inevitable end.

The former president and chief justice was said to be able to take but "very little nourishment" yet his doctors could see no decided change in the last 24 hours.

After a noon visit, Dr. Francis Hagner, who has been in constant attendance, said when he entered the room Mr. Taft had recognized him and that the famous Taft smile had enveloped the features. He was, however, unable to speak.

The quiet of Wyoming st. where Mr. Taft lay dying was emphasized by the silent coming and going of old friends and governmental officials who called to pay their respects and went away with grave faces.

Outside the room where the distinguished patient lay helpless, a soft sun brought a hint of spring and the promise of flowers soon to blossom in the Taft yard.

Justice Stone, a neighbor of the Tafts, drove up to the residence several times this morning. He finally left his secretary to keep watch with the newspapermen, requesting that he be apprised of the nature of the physician's bulletin.

Robert A. Taft, speeding from Cincinnati in an effort to reach his father's bedside before death, arrived at the home at 11:53 a. m.

AGREEMENT SOUGHT BY U. S. AND JAPAN

Compromise on Submarines Looms at London Disarmament Conference

LONDON, Feb. 28—(AP)—The American and Japanese delegations this morning continued active efforts to reach an agreement on the points of difference between them and it was understood the conversations were pending toward compromise which might involve concessions by both sides.

Unofficial observers gathered the impression there was the possibility that the American and British concession might be giving Japan the right to be allowed to retain a greater proportion of the submarines in relation to the United States and Great Britain than is allowed under the ration of the Washington treaty for capital ships.

At the same time Great Britain and the United States would make a sharp cut in their total tonnages for submersibles. On the other hand Japan would be asked to reduce her demand for a 70 per cent. cruiser ratio.

It was pointed out that the Japanese have steadfastly maintained since the opening of the conference, that undersea craft formed an important part of her fleet and hence that she might be willing to make concessions in other categories in order to secure a desired strength in submarines.

The Americans and British have made it clear they have no desire for the Japanese delegation to return to Tokyo dissatisfied with the agreement.

Work on Hospital Service Progressing Under New Aid

Miss Anderson Preparing To Purchase Equipment for Institution

WANT HIGH RATING

Officials To Add Two Departments To Improve Medical Service

WORK on the laboratory and pathological room soon to be made part of the service available at City hospital is progressing nicely, according to Miss Grace Anderson, trained technician laboratorian, who will have charge of the room and who is now busy planning to purchase the needed equipment.

Miss Anderson made two trips to Columbus recently to visit Class A hospitals and to get aid in deciding what equipment will be necessary here. The equipment will be purchased by the Women's board of the hospital.

Early next week, bids for the equipment will be received, Miss Anderson announced today, following the completion of the list of equipment which will be purchased immediately.

Want Class A Rating

Miss Anderson will, in addition to her pathological work, have charge of a general revision of the City hospital to place it on a class A rating. A first class hospital is the aim of Dr. T. E. Sonnanstine, director of public safety.

Inauguration of a system of keeping histories of patients has been one of the first steps made in this direction under the supervision of Miss Anderson. Histories of all cases in the hospital will be kept under the plan, Miss Anderson said.

It is the hope of Miss Anderson and city officials to enlarge and improve the hospital and place it in class A rating within several months. There are many changes to be made before that can be accomplished, it is said.

H-V CRACK TRAIN TO SERVE MARION

"The Sportsman" Added to Detroit-Charleston Run; To Be Here Wednesday

A crack night train, to be known as "The Sportsman," will be added by the Hocking Valley railroad beginning March 30, officials of the road announced today.

Public exhibition of the train will be given at the Union station here on Wednesday night, March 19, between 8 and 11 o'clock, it was announced. At that time the train will be dressed up as if in service. The entire crew will be on duty and additional representatives will be in each car to point out its features and answer inquiries.

The train will give through service from Detroit to Huntington and Charleston, W. Va. It will carry reconditioned seats of a new type and all Pullman cars will be equipped with radio receivers.

Deluxe Stock Used

Lines of the Pere Marquette from Detroit to Toledo, the Nickel Plate from Cleveland to Fostoria, the Hocking Valley from Toledo to Columbus, and the Chesapeake & Ohio from Columbus to Norfolk, Va., will be used in the new service.

The southbound train will leave Marion at 9:52 p. m., and the northbound at 4:30 a. m.

Equipment to be used will include a deluxe combination smoking and baggage car, a deluxe coach, dining car, 12 Pullman cars, and a Pullman lounge observation car. All cars will be solid steel construction.

The southbound train will start from Detroit at 6:15 p. m., and at Fostoria will pick up passengers from Cleveland. It will arrive at Norfolk at 4:25 p. m. on the day following. The northbound train will reach Detroit at 8:20 a. m., while Cleveland passengers will reach their destination at 8:25 a. m. over the Nickel Plate lines from Fostoria.

Curtis Says Prospects Good for End of Revolt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Charles B. Curtis, American minister to Santo Domingo, reported to the state department today that prospects for settlement of revolutionary activities in the Dominican republic were encouraging, in spite of danger of serious disorders in the capital city.

The minister told of the meeting yesterday between President Vasquez and General Estrella Ureña, one of the revolutionary leaders. They conferred at Mr. Curtis' request, in the United States legation, to discuss terms of an agreement.

Mr. Curtis' telegram apparently was based on the discussion.

It was dated 1:15 p. m. yesterday.

BUENOS AIRES HIT

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 28—(AP)—Much of this city was flooded and is darkness throughout the night, as a consequence of heavy rainfall during Thursday afternoon and evening. Although only one person was reported to be drowned, it was feared many other casualties would be discovered with reestablishment of communications. Property damage was heavy.

TO JOIN WIFE IN LAST MEAL

March to Death Room Expected To Take Place After 7 Tonight

SLAYER IS COMPOSED

Smiles to Wife When Talking Through Bars of Prison Cell

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—(AP)—Dr. James Howard Snook, the 50-year-old former Ohio State university professor who is to die tonight in the electric chair for the murder last June 13, of Miss Theora Hix, a student, will eat his last meal with Mrs. Snook, Warden P. E. Thomas announced today.

Warden Thomas granted the request after a conference with Mrs. Snook, the Rev. Isaac E. Miller, pastor of the King Avenue M. E. church, and Mrs. Thomas, the warden's wife.

Dr. and Mrs. Snook will eat a chicken dinner between 5 and 6 o'clock today and within two hours the former professor of veterinary medicine will be led into the death chamber and his life taken by the state in payment for the crime.

Mrs. Thomas, who always prepares the last meal for the condemned prisoners which they order themselves, will serve a chicken dinner with all the trimmings, including gravy, potatoes, a salad, ice cream and cake, coffee and cigars.

Plans Changed

Dr. Snook was to have eaten the last meal with Rev. Miller and Chaplain K. E. Wall, but after the request of Mrs. Snook had been granted, the other two withdrew their requests.

Only close relatives were to be permitted to see Dr. Snook today. Warden Thomas explained that Mrs. Snook had requested that none be permitted in death row because Dr. Snook is "bearing up so well."

Mrs. Snook arrived at the prison shortly after 9 a. m. and was admitted immediately to death row. She found the former professor still sleeping but he was immediately aroused and talked more than an hour with her.

According to present plans of prison officials Dr. Snook will be removed to the little cell adjoining the death room about 4 p. m. And in this enclosure where he will be under two guards, the last meal will be served.

Few Steps to Death Room

It is only a few steps from the little death cell to the electric chair where the extreme penalty will be exacted by the state. Dr. Snook probably will start the death march under two guards shortly after 7 p. m. Warden Thomas has refused to announce the exact time for the electrocution but it was indicated that it would come at the regular time, between 7 and 8 tonight.

Prison guards said that Dr. Snook was composed on dying today and smiled when talking to Mrs. Snook through the bars of the cell. Three other men, under sentence of death share the cell with the professor, but they kept to the rear of the enclosure during the conversation.

Mrs. Snook and her cousin, a Mrs. Landacre of Junction City, O., went in to visit Dr. Snook at 1 p. m. although it previously has been announced that Mrs. Snook would not return to the prison until late today.

The woman was first believed to have an important bearing on the case but Mrs. Thomas, wife of the warden, later identified her for newspapermen.

It is probable that Dr. Snook will eat his last meal in a tuxedo, Warden Thomas said. The warden told newspapermen that Mrs. Snook had asked permission to bring the garments to the prison when she arrives for the dinner.

Dr. Snook spent his last day preparing for death at about 7:30 o'clock tonight, the usual hour for electrocutions in Ohio penitentiary. The city of 5,000 souls denied the cell area

SERVE OLD WARRANT

Embezzlement Charged After Man Serves Term in U. S. Army

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28—(INS)—A warrant which was issued 10 years ago, had been served for the first time today.

The document which was sworn out in 1920 by Theodore Thilpe, of the Holters Shoe Co. here, charged Stephan C. Schulte, 29, with embezzlement of the shoe company's funds. Schulte was bookkeeper of the firm.

Schulte returned to Cincinnati yesterday, after completing a four-year enlistment in the United States navy. The warrant charged the former bookkeeper with embezzling $5,342.42.

REICHSTAG GROUPS BACK YOUNG PLAN

Acceptance of Reparations Proposal Recommended; Reading Due March 6

BERLIN, Feb. 28—(AP)—Joint committees of the Reichstag today approved the Young reparations plan, thereby recommending its acceptance to Reichstag.

The joint committee also approved the agreement on American reparations and the hotly-contested Polish separate reparations agreement. The Young plan bills will reach the Reichstag for their second reading March 6.

The expected split-up of the coalition parties over the Young plan was filled over when joint committees of the Social Democrats, Democrats and Peoples' party with 29 votes recommended the Young plan to the Reichstag. The Nationalist, Communists, Economic party and Christian Nationalists, with 22 votes were in opposition.

Those abstaining were the Centrists and Bavarian Peoples party who insisted that the financial bills should be disposed of before the Young plan. As a sign of loyalty to the coalition, however, the Centrists proposed a vote of confidence for the chancellor.

PROFESSOR DIES

Thomas Dwight Biscoe Located at Marietta in 1874

MARIETTA, Feb. 28—(AP)—Thomas Dwight Biscoe, 80, L. L. D., professor emeritus of Marietta college, is dead at his home here today.

Now you can protect her lovely hair!

Millions of men and women know how Danderine helps stop falling hair and dissolves the worst crust of dandruff; how easily it changes dull, lustreless, brittle hair into hair that is soft, sparkling, vigorous.

With Danderine it is so easy to "train" a child's hair; to keep it orderly, sparkling, clean. Danderine accentuates the natural curl of a child's hair. A girl's "waves" look more natural when "set" with it. And they stay in longer.

Use Danderine with children to overcome the evils of frequent washing. It puts back into hair and scalp the natural oils removed by soap and water.

Danderine isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show. It is no trouble to use. Just put a little on the brush each time the hair is arranged. That will keep the scalp healthy and encourage the growth of long, silky and abundant hair. Five million bottles used a year is proof of Danderine's effectiveness.

"Sunk!"

The girl who let menstrual pains interfere with her activities has not heard of Midol. These wonderful little tablets act quite harmlessly, directly on the organs affected. They do not interfere with nature, but they do remove every particle of that unnatural, unnecessary pain.

Midol will end the most severe menstrual pain in five to seven minutes.

Midol is a marvelous discovery made by specialists. It is not a narcotic, yet it ends all that needless pain. And if you anticipate the time, the expected pain will not appear at all. Tiny tablets in convenient little aluminum case obtainable at every drugstore. Isn't it folly to suffer month and month?—Adv.

TO VISIT HOME

King's Daughters Circle Plans Trip to Bucyrus

Nineteen members attended a meeting of the Good Cheer circle, King's Daughters, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Pace, 530 Cherry st., last night. During a short business meeting it was voted to visit Maple Crest, the King's Daughters home at Bucyrus, March 22. The following program was then given: devotionals, Miss Edgabeth Pace; reading, "What Have You Done with Your Christmas Gifts," Miss Ruth Cheney; poem, "Pin on Your Posies," Miss Helen Crepa; reading, "We Wear the Silver Cross Now," Miss Zelma Schweinfurth; poem, "Get Somebody Else," Mrs. Lucile Her; paper, "Test of Christian Leadership," Miss Ino Hornby; poem, "Livin'," Miss Althea Miller.

A social hour was then enjoyed at which time the losing side in a contest entertained the winners. Honors in the contests were awarded Miss Kathryn Gelbaugh and Miss Mary Heininger. Miss Mildred Ruhl was presented a gift from the circle for having saved the most pennies during the year. A two-course luncheon was served by the hostess at tables attractively centered with lighted tapers. The hostess was assisted by Miss Iva McCurdy. A work meeting of the circle will be held at the Epworth M. E. church, March 13, with Miss Lucy Jane Brown, Miss Zelma Schweinforth and Miss Lois Snodgrass in charge of a potluck dinner to be held in conjunction with the meeting.

MORE THAN 200 AT WOMAN'S MEETING

Farm Groups Attend Achievement Program at Crawford County School

BUCYRUS, Feb. 28—More than 200 Crawford county women, rural and city alike, attended the achievement meeting held at North Robinson schoolhouse yesterday for an all-day vegetable achievement program at which time two nutrition specialists, Miss Emma E. Sparks and Miss Martha E. Foster of Ohio State university, were the principal speakers.

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock with music by the North Robinson orchestra and a short talk by Mrs. Brooks Rice. The program included community singing; a playlet by the Leesville community "Proper Diet"; reading, Marjorie Hoover, Mt. Zion; playlet, "What a Pair" by the New Washington community; "Song of the Current," Sulphur Springs community; short talk by Miss Foster and reports by the various groups.

Luncheon was served at noon and the afternoon session opened at 1:30 o'clock with music by the North Robinson orchestra. The afternoon program was comprised of the following features: playlet, "Weeks Divorce Case," North Robinson community; "Chowder Chimes," Chatfield community; "Diary of the Stomach," Sulphur Springs community; construction of a musical sentence, Roma Shafstall, Mt. Zion; playlet, "Raising the Price of Butter", Lykens community; reading, Mrs. Nessie Charlton, Sulphur Springs; community singing; playlet, "Vegetable Wedding", Holmes-Liberty community; question box and answers, Miss Sparks; discussion of a home project, Mrs. Rice; remarks by County Agent Bradfute, and closing musical selection by the Whetstone community members.

The committee in charge of the program was Mrs. Brooks Rice, Mrs. L. E. Ulmer, Mrs. E. J. Guinther and Miss Sparks.

Yesterday's meeting climaxed a series of vegetable cookery classes held throughout the past several months throughout the county.

City Library To Show Art

Illustrator Talks Before Local Club; To Display Work Here

"Development of Art Appreciation in the Child," was the topic Chester H. Lawrence, of Chicago, chose for his talk last night before the Art club, at City library. Mr. Lawrence was an artist and illustrator before taking up his present work, that of illustrating books for children.

Mr. Lawrence considers it his mission to make artists of businessmen and claims that America is not art-conscious although he does not say that it is entirely unconscious to art.

When he began his present work, after 15 years of commercial art, Mr. Lawrence began with nursery rhymes. To him, right can be appealed to more in a child than sound. As he talked, he brought out the different stages in a child's life, and the things that appealed to them most.

On the program with Mr. Lawrence was Mrs. Carl Loeffler, club member, who gave a talk on Herman Atkins-MacNeal. With her talk, she had lantern slides, and a figure piece in bronze that he had sculptured.

Mr. Lawrence's talk was illustrated by water colors which he [illegible] with him. These will be exhibited the library all this week, and [illegible] free to the public.

Healthiest!

"My little daughter is just about the healthiest girl I know," says Mrs. R. Richards, 14608 Savannah Av., Cleveland. "And I want to give credit where it is due.

"Rebecca was constipated several years ago and I gave her California Fig Syrup. It helped her so wonderfully that I have used it ever since for all her upsets or colds. It has kept her strong, energetic, rugged."

Children suffer when bowels aren't regular. Breath becomes fetid; tongue coated; eyes dull. When these symptoms are neglected, biliousness, feverishness, lack of appetite invariably follow.

The first dose of California Fig Syrup relieves these symptoms and activates sluggish bowels. Successive doses help tone and strengthen weak bowels; improve appetite; encourage digestion and assimilation. Try it with a bilious, headachy, constipated child and see how it "helps!"

The pure vegetable product, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the name California. So look for it when buying.—Adv.

He Talked, but He Could Deliver

A STORY OF LOVE AND LIFE IN HOLLYWOOD

BY SIDNEY HERSCHEL SMALL

INSTALLMENT 17

JOHN ANDREW jingled three dollars and forty cents (the bills—he knew, made no sound) and thought ironically, "I believe that's a million, yet. But this deal I have——"

He rested his elbows on the table.

"With the deal I have on involves many thousands. There might be difficulties——"

"A good start's half the battle," Carey said, without interest.

John Andrew took no comfort from the remark.

"And Mr. Kellogg wouldn't buy a car, although I——"

The actor's mouth screwed into an expression of distaste. "I've wasted lots of advice, haven't I?" he said coolly to Anne. When she gave him a glance and as he stared back, his mask became human again, although he did not quite understand what the fencing was about. Uncertainly, he went on. "Some American cars are pretty fine jobs. Mercury's got a good reputation——"

"That's what I'm driving," John Andrew said. "Miss Ames is going to see it tonight."

"The custom built job I saw out front?" Carey asked. "That's a car!"

"Right," John Andrew said.

"I looked for a Mercury a week ago," the actor admitted. "The Mercury people are supposed to open up here here, but haven't done it yet. It's a new car, but I have heard it's a marvel—no speed cop can catch you when you drive it——"

John Andrew said sadly, "Don't I know it?"

"Stay under 40 tonight, then; it isn't publicity any more when a star gets pinched for speeding. Good-by, fellows."

The actor was hailed several times; one table he bent while answering the questions of a luscious blonde (Goldwyn star; not until he had left the cafe did Anne ask, "Are you going to sell Mercurys here?"

"Love me for what you think me," John Andrew said.

"If you are, you oughtn't to be wasting time here."

"I'm not wasting time."

"It must be nearly one," Anne told him hastily. "I've got to get back to the set . . . John Andrew, why did you come to Hollywood?"

Kellogg looked at her so soberly that Anne turned away.

"Having decided that important point," John Andrew said, "what time shall I come and get you today?"

Anne's hands, under the cloth, knit together nervously. "Who are you, John Andrew?" she asked.

His answer came without hesitation. "John Andrew Kellogg, thank you, feeling very well, weight up to normal, appetite very good, sound in every limb, no incorrectible bad habits, and thinking of you all the time, Anne Ames." No sense in longer holding off; the love scene between Anne and the actor had shown John Andrew clearly where he stood. "Thinking of you all the time," he continued grimly, "and wondering what you think of me."

"I don't know you—"

"Hmm," said John Andrew. "You kissed me, didn't you?"

"I kissed the actor, also—"

"I'm hardly what you'd call an expert, but it wasn't the same."

"Don't you think I'm the better judge? I was kissed both times."

After a pause John Andrew said, "Let's talk about corner lots."

"Are you in the real estate business?"

"I read Babbit once."

"You won't be serious about anything!"

"Wait," John Andrew said; "just wait until tonight!"

Anne stood up, her check in her fingers. John Andrew did not reach for it, but, rising also, asked again, "What time?"

"I'll be working all afternoon," Anne said, aware that other girls were watching her style, and aware also that some of their glances went to her lean, well dressed companion. "I've got to rest tonight——"

"Here," John Andrew said, handing Anne his check for 55 cents, "pay this for me . . . thanks . . . now I'll buy the dinner tonight. Very modern arrangement. Fifty-fifty. I'll come for you at 6:30." As he talked he guided Anne toward the cashier. So many people were around them that the girl dared not retort, nor, for some reason, did she care to.

John Andrew's keen eyes picked up, "That's Ames . . . brought from New York . . . yeah, a friend of one of the main office . . . sure she's got good legs . . . yeah, how else do they get to the top?" and John Andrew would have turned and beyond doubt have spoken if Anne, one hand dropping coins on the rubber mat, had not taken his arm and with a firm grip taken him with her from the cafe.

His face was so austere that the girl said gently, "You can't hit girls, John Andrew."

"It wasn't a girl, Kellogg told her. "But a girl was probably back of it," Anne said. "I'm not what Mr. Carey calls dumb. I know what some of the people here are thinking, and what they will think now, since you came here this morning, after hey discover that you have not any connection with the company at all, and aren't a critic or writer——"

"You tell 'em I've got business here," John Andrew snapped.

"Thanks for trying to protect my good name, Mr. Kellogg!"

"You can't tell," John Andrew said. "I might have. You never know. I don't know myself. There are funny things in the air these days. A fellow never knows what'll happen next——"

"You go along that path," Anne said. "I'm going back to the set."

"See you at half past six," Kellogg told her.

Suppose he told Anne frankly what the "deal involving millions" was? Just what would she say? Anne, he knew liked him; from her continued questions it was apparent to him that she attached importance to what a fellow did to earn a living; how, then, would she like him as a remittance man? And how was he to be anything else?

Item: One custom built roadster, cost $4,000.

Item: Cash, $60.00.

Item: Four suits of clothes, ranging in original cost from between $125 and $150.

Item also: One watch, two pair of cuff links, which, he decided, ought to be worth enough, if pawned, to allow him to meet his first week's hotel bill, if he stayed that long at the Poinsettia. Why should he stay there? Why should he stay anywhere? Why—why—why?

"This," John Andrew said aloud in his room, "this will never do. I'm entitled to some sleep; I need sleep." He pulled down the shades, shutting out vivid sunlight, and undressed slowly stopping once to light a cigaret. It was a long time before sleep came; he did not rest well.

For all his tossing, it was well after 5 before Kellogg awoke. The curious notion came to him, at the insincere moment of waking, that he was again in the room on Sixth av., with the elevated rumbling past; that the gaudily painted hotel dresser was gray and carved with pineapple shaped ornaments . . . never again would he attempt to be friendly; look what friendship had cost him! Firstly, his job, which alone was responsible for getting him into this mess. Secondly, the jade green Mercury, which had taken the money he was to have doubled. Thirdly—why, thirdly, both circumstances had shown him Anne.

He whistled as he ran hot water into the tub; after, he stood slapping arms about him as the chilly spray from the shower cut into his skin. "I've got $60," he thought. "That's better than being broke. And I may get Anne, I dunno. It's a very delicate situation, even for a Scotchman. From now on, just the same, I'm the fellow who rented a house near a mountain when I wanted a phonograph. I could hear the echoes from my neighbor's machine. Touch old Andy, Carey. Watchin' every penny. I wonder where I can take Anne to eat? There ought to be some decent dumps down here. I'll ask 'em downstairs."

Dressing rapidly, John Andrew looked at two of his suits and believed that both would be vastly better for pressing. He telephoned downstairs for some one to get the clothing. From coat pockets of each suit Kellogg pulled out packets of cigarets; he automatically ran a hand through all of the pockets and from one of them drew a sheaf of papers. He looked at the folded sheets quizzically and then grinned.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Succeeds in Calming Noel

NOEL VERITZEN'S face ran the gamut of emotions from despair to joy and back again while I told him of Mary's reaction to his father's letter and warned him that if his firmness went out of his life it would be solely because he had sent her away.

For an instant when I had told him that Mary would have flung Philip Veritzen's letter into the writer's face if the elder man had been near her, there was a radiance in his face which mirrored the ecstasy of a torturing doubt resolved. But it vanished almost immediately and when my warning was finished, there had crept into his eyes the terrified pain which they had held when I had said that I was taking Mary away because of his apparent aversion to her.

He did not speak for a few seconds, then his stiffened lips began to repeat in a queer, terrifying monotone some of the phrases I had used, with jerky interjected comments of his own.

"Poisoned my mind!—my father!—against her!—cannot bear to have her near me!—if she goes out of my life it will be because I sent her away—and I can never tell her why!"

If Noel were a woman, I reflected, I should have a case of nervous hysteria on my hands in another minute. As it was, I was not particularly easy concerning his voice or the expression of his eyes. Both were more like those of a delirious person than of one in full possession of his senses. I rose abruptly, and crossing to his chair, put my hands firmly upon his shoulders.

"Noel! Stop this at once!" I commanded in the same tones I would have used to Junior in a paroxysm of childish grief. "This thing isn't as hopeless as you think. But I have only two or three minutes longer to stay here, and you must listen quietly to what I have to say to you."

Noel's Terror

I felt his shoulders stiffen under my grasp, and he lifted his head and looked at me with a shamefaced yet determined gaze.

"Please, forgive me," he said, "I am—not quite myself. But—I'm all right now." He drew a long, shuddering breath. "Tell me—what it is you wish me to do."

"Nothing," I returned, with deliberate explosiveness, "except to rid your mind of all the rubbishy fears which appear to be obsessing it. I can see that there is something in your father's letter, some threat or other, which you are taking seriously. Now if you will forgive a fling at your reverend parent, I'd like to tell you that he is acting like a spoiled little child who lies down on the floor and kicks and screams because no one will give him the moon. Mrs. Underwood says that he will not stay away from his beloved theaters very much longer, and when he does come back some one of us will deal with him, find out what he is trying to do—and see that he doesn't do it."

There was distinct terror in Noel's face now.

Mary Mustn't Know

"No, no, you mustn't ask him what he means. You—don't—know."

I shifted from high to second immediately.

"I'll promise you this," I said slowly, "No one will say anything to him unless you authorize the saying."

The tension around his mouth relaxed and he looked at me with revived eyes.

"That helps," he said simply, "and I can't help feeling a little less—hopeless if you're going to talk to him."

He stressed the pronoun, and I choke back a hasty disclaimer that I personally was to undertake the interview with Philip Veritzen. There was no use in upsetting the boy, I said to myself, even though I was not yet ready to accept Lilian's dictum that I must be the one to broach the subject of Mr. treatment of Noel to my employer when he should return from his theatrical and self-imposed exile.

"Of course, all this is academic as yet," I said, finding a direct answer to his last words. "What I want of you is a promise to stop worrying about this whole thing, at least until I come back and can talk with you again about it. Won't you believe me when I say that all of us here are on your side, and we are quite resourceful—some of us. Won't you trust us to do everything that is possible to straighten matters out for you?"

He put out his hand impulsively and I took it in both of mine.

"I will trust you to do everything but the impossible," he said slowly, "and I am afraid that is what will confront you. But at least I have your blessed word about—Mary—and I am so ashamed——"

"No doubting her even for a second!" I retorted. "You have need to be. Would you like to tell her so yourself? I'll delay our going for three minutes——" I looked at my watch—"and send her in to say good-by, if you wish."

He shrank back as if from an actual blow.

"No, no," he said, "I mustn't—let—her—think—anything—different as it—after—you—we—my father."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

IT had been snowing most of the night when me and Jubilee woke up and it was so cold that when I opened the window to let him down and took a long breath it felt like someone had pushed two sharp knives up my nose and then ripped them out, and I let him down so fast that he bumped. I was in such a hurry to get the window shut and get into my pants. There is no telling what might happen to a fella without any pants on a freezing cold morning. When I had got dressed and went downstairs the bass burner was so low that I could put my hand on it without it burning me, and the whole house was cold, but I shook down the bass burner and made a fire in the kitchen, and when I stuck my nose out of the door with the ashes there wasn't a footprint anywhere in the whole white world. I had got the milking half done before anyone came, and then it was the Last Rose of Tripe with Pickles after him, and they came in the door and went out the manure hole so fast that I couldn't hardly see who it was, but it made the cow so nervous that she got one foot in the milk pail and I had a hard job getting it out without spilling the milk. If the milk had been strained I would have had to strain it all over again.

When I got in the house to feed my face and the bunch had come into the kitchen to keep from freezing to death my grandfather was stumping around on his same leg telling the world that nobody could fool him on the weather and that this was the tall-twister he had been telling about and when he said March was coming in like a lion we would all believe him next time.

Then he showed me a picture of a cow in the paper that had its milking things on its back and he said it was a freak and how would I like to have one like it, and I said I would like it all right, but I would have to turn her over and lay her across something with a hole in it to milk her, and he said that would be too much trouble. The wind turned into the south all at once and the snow packed and we had a good time. We made a snow man over the bitching post in front of the school, and used coal for eyes and mouth, and a big kid smoking a pipe came past and said to watch him paint it, and he hauled off and painted it on the nose as hard as he could, and the snow was only about a inch thick over the post, and he dropped his pipe and went off down the street holding one arm. He thought he would spoil our fun, but he was funnier than the snow man.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggist.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

SOVIET DECLARES WAR ON RELIGION

Churches and monasteries are being demolished in Russia in the Soviet's mad rush towards atheism. Bells, whose mellow tones have called the faithful to worship for centuries, are being crashed from their towers and melted so that the metal can be used for the manufacture of farm implements. The churches have been converted into granaries in the Soviet's new craze for "culture." Picture shows peasants of Petrovsky village bringing their wheat to a church which has been transformed into a granary.

OIL TARIFF HOLDS SENATE ATTENTION

Democratic-Independent Republican Group Fights Drive of Supporters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP)—The senate turned today to the question of imposing a tariff on oil, while the Democratic-Independent Republican coalition sought to hold its ranks intact in the face of a strenuous drive for votes by those supporting the petroleum duty.

Charges of log-rolling, too, still were reverberating about the capitol, in the wake of a report that an agreement had been made to fix a duty on oil and leather, now on the free list, and increase the rate on sugar, previously approved by the senate at 1.76 cents per pound.

At the same time, the senate lobby committee called upon Wirt Franklin, president of the American Independent Petroleum association, to give an account of his activities here in furthering his organization's request for a tariff on oil.

The oil debate centered upon an amendment by Senator Pine, Republican, Oklahoma, to impose a duty of $1.00 a barrel on crude oil and 50 per cent ad valorem on refined petroleum products including gasoline.

Leaders of the coalition were confident that they could maintain sufficient strength to defeat the proposal, just as last night they were successful in opposing a move to place a duty of $2.00 a thousand feet on soft lumber, now on the free list. The vote was 39 to 34.

GRANGE MEETS

Salt Rock Group Present Program at Bethlehem Hall

Members of Salt Rock grange presented the program at the meeting of members of Bethlehem grange, No. 1956, last night at the grange hall south of the city. A song, "Marching On" was followed by a reading, "The Farmer's Wife," by Mrs. A. Foos. A harmonica solo by Russell Cayton was followed by a piano solo, "Evening Bells," played by Miss Georgia Smith. Miss Smith also entertained with several piano numbers during the program hour. Miss Steen gave a reading, "An Hour of Horror," and Miss Parks entertained with a recitation, "A Tactful Friend." Max Sewalt contributed a reading, "The Railroad Crossing." Other numbers included a reading, "Experience of a Farmer," Mrs. Massie; reading, "The Deacon," Mrs. James; reading, Lester Watts; "Miranda in Heaven," Mrs. Cayton; "Limitations of Youth," William Steen; "And So Did I," Mrs. Richardson.

During the business session the grange members went on record as favoring the debenture plan of farm relief and the members were urged to write Congressman Monser of the resolution.

A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Smith and Misses Elmore and Marie Reuter and Ed Bender. The next meeting will be March 14.

AID MEETS

Prospect M. E. Church Groups Hold All-Day Session

PROSPECT, Feb. 28—The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church held an all-day meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Suttzbuch Wednesday, with a good attendance. A picnic dinner was served at the noon hour. During the business session, plans for the St. Patrick's day bazaar were discussed.

It was decided the Ladies' aid would sponsor the Easter breakfast to follow the sunrise meeting. It also was voted to paper four rooms at the parsonage.

The afternoon was spent sewing for the bazaar.

JACK SHARKEY WINS COLORLESS FIGHT

SCOTT FALLS IN THIRD WITH CRY OF "FOUL"

Opinion Divided Where Boston Gob's Alleged Low Blows Landed; Risko Draws with Campolo

BY ALAN GOULD

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—The cry of "foul or foul" was raised again today amidst the chaos of the heavyweight battle realm, wafted out upon the balmy southern breezes as a result of Jack Sharkey's technical knockout victory over Phil Scott in the third round of a world contest.

In a finish that was as balmy as the weather, Sharkey was declared the winner by Referee Lou Magnolia last night after the lanky British champion had claimed a foul, taken a complete minute's rest to perpetrate as the claim was disallowed and, then refused to continue as he swayed against the ropes from the effects of a terrific left hook to the pit of the stomach.

The spectacle of this third round, the climax to a carnival of clout that was a financial as well as a fistic flop, probably has no precedent in the history of American heavyweight boxing. Sharkey had been warned for hitting low, a second later Scott sank with an agonized look and cry of foul. The referee helped drag Scott to his corner for an examination and a minute's rest, while Sharkey raged around the ring with tears streaming down his face as he feared disqualification.

Prestige Not Helped

Sharkey in the opinion of most critics, fought an unsatisfactory fight, jeopardized his chances of winning from an opponent he obviously outclassed and added nothing to his prestige as the leading American title contender.

Scott, thoroughly eliminated from any further consideration in the heavyweight circus, left a sorrowful impression as a fighter. In spite of his apparent show of gameness in deciding to continue in the third round after a claim of foul. Regardless of the questionable blows struck or the merits of the referee's action, Scott put up a performance that served only to emphasize his reputation for claiming disputed fouls.

The argument as to whether Scott was fouled, whether it has any ultimate importance or not, may go on for some time to come without being settled. Experts at the ringside differed sharply on the question, some maintaining Scott was hit low at least six times and that Sharkey should have been disqualified; others equally as emphatic in asserting that while the American hit low several times on Scott's thigh, he did not deliver any direct foul punches.

Saw No Low Punches

Referee Mungnoli declared he saw no low punches but after the fight, examination of Scott showed a lump on his right leg several inches below the waist-line. An examining physician described the injury as traumatic sciatica, producing a partial paralysis which contributed to Scott's apparent collapse and the limping manner in which he went out to resume fighting. In the ring, however, at the height of the confusion and during the minute's recognition that Magnolia declared to make his examination, both the referee and the official boxing commission physician decided Scott was neither fouled nor hurt.

Magnolia explained that his extraordinary action in stopping the fight for a full minute was prompted by a desire to avoid any possible "squawk" or charge of unfair dealing.

The opinion as to where Sharkey's blows landed differed, according to the ringside viewpoint. Even Magnolia admitted he did not have an unobstructive view at all the questionable punches. The blow which sent Scott down, claiming foul, was curiously similar to the one struck by Otto Von Porat against the Briton in Madison Square Garden some months ago and which resulted in the disqualification of the Norwegian. As on that occasion, however, Scott acted somewhat uncertain as to just

COLORED TEAM WILL PLAY SHOVEL QUINT

Cage Game Will Be Feature of Dance at Gym Saturday Night

A basketball game will be the feature attraction of the Steam Shovel Athletic association dance at the Shovel gym Saturday night.

It will bring together the Marion Vaiets, a colored court quintet, and the Shovel Machinists. The Shovel team ranks as one of the best in the shop league.

The basketball game will start at 7:45 o'clock to be followed by dancing until midnight. Music for the dance will be furnished by the Dreamland Serenaders, an eight-piece orchestra.

"Scott Quit," Retired Heavyweight Champ Says

BY BRIAN BELL

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28—(AP)—Two big broad shouldered men looked at the skirmish of the tropics last night with expert eyes. One would not have climbed into the ring to box for any amount of money although he could have beaten any of the 10 men in it. The other refused an offer of $15,000 to take part in the second show when he had been a principal in the first one year ago.

The first was Gene Tunney and the second Young Stribling.

"Scott quit," said Tunney.

"Scott's a bum," said Stribling.

Watching boxing bouts from seats among the spectators was a novelty for both Gene and "W. L." Tunney was looking at his first big boxing bout since he left the ring forever after his defeat of Tom Heeney a year and a half ago. Stribling usually is in a corner as a participant.

"What did you think of Scott?" Tunney was asked.

"I haven't seen him," was the reply. "I told you last night that I had never seen him. Well, that holds good tonight. I haven't seen him yet."

The former heavyweight champion, polite as always, said that the card as a whole was "very interesting." Tunney, who attended with Mrs. Tunney and a group of friends, arrived just before the opening six rounder and remained until the close.

Stribling liked the affair in general, but could not say much for the act occupying the headline spot.

"Just think," lamented the Flying Georgian, "they wouldn't give me $25,000 to fight on this card and let a fellow like Scott get in there for the main bout." The Madison Square Garden management offered Stribling $15,000, but he countered with a proposal to box for $25,000.

"It would have paid them to pay me $25,000," said the boxer. "I would have drawn much more than that."

Carey Claims Fight Not Staged as Money Maker

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—(INS)—One thousand miles away, the scene had been the unforgetable panorama that only a prize fight of major importance knows; a panorama of human faces—vividly pale in the stark light at the ringside, softer, more appealing as they mellowed into the darkened background. But today illusion had gone with the night and only realism remained. And so Willinfo F. Carey, the man who had pulled the strings that made these puppets dance, sat in his office here and offered the strangest post-mortem that ever these reportorial ears have heard. He said that the Sharkey-Scott fight had been promoted as a moral obligation to boxing.

It had been promoted, he added, in the face of what had seemed to be certain loss and that the Madison Square Garden Corp. had gone out of its way to increase this apparent element of certainty by arranging $57,000 worth of preliminary bouts. And when I asked him why this was done, he told me that the corporation had recognized a moral obligation that was bigger than money.

"We knew from the first that we were promoting something that would lose us money or at least make us very little," said he. "This wasn't good business but we weren't being business men in this thing. The New York boxing commission had named three survivors in the heavyweight race and we, the pre-eminent organization in the field, were obligated to match them, regardless of the fact that one of them was colorless and without appeal to the public. This wasn't a fight promotion; it was a sort of duty call on a sick friend, the latter being the heavyweight division."

While he talked, the man pushed buttons, signed passports okayed mergers, borrowed my matches—permanently—and hired medical specialists over the telephone. His boy is sick in school up in Connecticut and that railroad he is going to build in South America could wait until he was assured that the "slight illness" reported was simply that and not a thing more. Carey is scheduled to sail tonight but he won't—if the specialists' reports aren't comforting.

There were tired lines about the eyes, almost of pain, as he turned back from the telephone and I wondered idly how he could think of me and the boy and the mergers and the boy, the specialists and the boy and the passports and the boy at one and the same time. It seemed that he could, for he did. That is big business way.

"Now those preliminary bouts," said he, as though the interval had been 10 seconds, instead of as many minutes. "We put that all-star show on not with the idea of making money, as so many have thought. As a matter of fact, we couldn't make money out of the preliminaries because every dollar they drew in, we split with Sharkey and Scott. We put them on because we feared the top bout wasn't a good one and didn't want people going all the way to Miami, Fla., without assuring them of a real evening of boxing."

With this, the interview was over, to all practical purposes, because the boy up in Connecticut had struggled to the telephone to tell the man that everything was all right and somehow the sight of his relief made me feel that privacy was being outraged.

A very human man, this Carey, for a multi-millionaire. A very human man, even if he never had a nickel

17 PLAYERS OF REDS TO LEAVE SATURDAY FOR SOUTHERN CAMP

Kelly, May and Riconda Are Awaiting Adjustments on Salaries

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28—(INS)—A party of 17 will leave tomorrow for the Reds' training camp at Orlando, Fla.

Included in the group will be a retinue of old standbys, Doug McWeeney, Ray Kolp and Kenneth Ash, pitchers; and Catcher Clyde Sukeforth. Others expected to be in the caravan are; Pitcher Bennie Frey, and two other hurlers (farm hands) Virgil David and Albert Eckert who show good promise of becoming Reds in the future. Infielder Otto Bluege, a brother of Ossie Bluege, will also be on hand.

Marty Callaghan, an optioned player from Columbus, and Ernie Swanson will join the party, which will include sports writers, en route.

George Kelly, Jakie May and Harry Riconda remained as holdouts pending their salary adjustments.

Permission to "bear down on 'em" enlivened training camp proceedings for the Cleveland Indians at New Orleans today. Joe Shantz, Mel Harder, Lefty Sheffner and John MacDonald, the latter a newcomer, all cut loose with their fast ones for the first time of the season yesterday. The continued absence of Wes Ferrel and Willis Hudlin, holdouts of the mound staff, has caused manager Roger Peckinpaugh to lay his plans as though he will have to do without them.

• • •

Batterymen of the Detroit American league baseball team approached the end of the first week of the training grind at Tampa, today in better condition than usual for this early in the season. No accidents have marred the practice sessions thus far.

Rookie pitchers look good and several of them are almost sure to stick with the team through the major league season.

• • •

Grover Cleveland Alexander planned to don a uniform of the Philadelphia Nationals at Winterhaven, Fla., today for the first time in 13 years to start his twentieth season in the major league. Manager Shotten expects to use Alexander largely to coach his other pitchers, but he also will take a turn in the box occasionally. Old Pete recently celebrated his forty-fourth birthday.

• • •

The first casualties of the Philadelphia Athletics spring training season put Eddie Rommel, veteran pitcher, and Glen Liebhardt, Jr., a rookie, out of action at Fort Myers. Rommel was laid up with a heavy cold and Liebhardt sprained an ankle in fielding a ball yesterday during batting practice.

• • •

Henry Johnson who was the fastest ball among New York Yankee pitchers, apparently has returned to the form that made him a sensation in 1928. Last year Johnson suffered a spine injury in July and was on the bench the rest of the season.

Len Shires, younger brother of the "The Great" Shires, Chicago White Sox first baseman, has reported to the New York Giants at San Antonio, for trial. Len is a second baseman and is not so garrulous as his elder brother. He was recommended to John McGraw by the White Sox Shires.

• • •

It begins to appear as though Babe Herman, slugging outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, is one of the few real holdouts in the major leagues. Herman, a hard hitter, is standing pat on his demand for $25,000 for the 1930 season. According to those who are supposed to know, the Dodgers offered Babe $15,000, but Herman came back with the reply that the next move was up to the club.

• • •

"Rabbit" Maranville, the inimitable, is out on the lot with the Braves as full of "pep" as ever and as versatile of tongue as in years gone by. Aiding rookies is by no means his smallest accomplishment. John Clough a pitcher from Blue Hill, Me., couldn't hit the ball yesterday until "Rabbit" walked out to the mound.

"Where's the boy who couldn't hit?" he called. Clough stepped to the plate and nearly cut the legs from under "Rabbit" with a line drive.

Niagara Falls Hockey Team Plays Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28—(INS)—The Cleveland Indian hockey team of the International Hockey league, was scheduled to take to the ice here tonight against Niagara Falls.

Cleveland is at the present leading the league.

Despite the fact that the Indians are battered up somewhat from their recent series with Toronto, it was believed they are stronger than their opponents.

SCOTT FALLS IN THIRD WITH CRY OF "FOUL"

Opinion Divided Where Boston Cob's Alleged Low Blows Landed

It took Scott ... longer to decide he had had ... for the evening, as he ... against the ropes from a ... left hook to the stomach. ... was no question of the fair ... of this blow.

Scott Down Three Times

The third round lasted three minutes and 34 seconds, including the ... devoted to debate and rest. ... Scott, was on the floor three ... for a count, once in the second round after being rushed to his ... and flipped by a left to the ... He took a count of six and ... out the round without much ... Another wild rush by Sharkey, early in the third round, put ... down for a count of three along the ropes. The Briton was down for another count of six before the blow that aroused the big controversy.

To sum it up, Scott refused to fight and Sharkey failed to fight, at least in a manner calculated to enhance his championship prospects.

The result of the semi-final between Johnny Risko of Cleveland and Victorio Campolo of the Argentine, declared a draw by Referee Kid McFarland, also was unsatisfactory to the majority of spectators and experts who considered Risko held a winning edge. Campolo finished spectacularly, staggering Risko in the tenth round with solid smashes. This, in the referee's opinion, entitled the South American giant to a draw, but most critics scored at least six rounds in Risko's favor. Johnny, though conceding 19 pounds in weight and big advantages in height and reach, flayed his lanky opponent with a characteristic two-fisted attack, forcing the fight from the second through the ninth round and piling up points. Campolo seemed baffled by Risko's tactics.

Financially, the second annual battle of the coconut palms was apparently as big a failure as it was disappointing in a competitive way. The paid attendance was estimated at 25,000, half the arena's capacity, and the receipts at $200,000, or less. On this basis, the Madison Square Garden Corp. faced a possible loss of $50,000. Last year's show drew a "gate" of $407,000 with Sharkey and Young Stribling in the main event.

BISHOP CAGERS ARE HONORED BY AWARDS

Eight Members of Quintet Presented with Gold Championship Medals

DELAWARE, Feb. 28—(AP)—Gold basketballs emblematic of the Buckeye conference championship were awarded to eight members of Ohio Wesleyan's basketball team today.

The Bishops completed their schedule with six wins and two losses, sure of a tie for the title. They will be undisputed champions if Miami defeats Cincinnati tomorrow night in Cincinnati.

Men honored were Captain Floyd Siegenthaler, Alliance, center; Francis Thomas, Ravenna, Russell Spoonmore, Cleveland, and Russell Facchini, Alliance, guards; and Don Malone, Cleveland, Eric Gandrup, Bay Village, Howard Ginaven, Springfield, and Vincent Schubert, Sandusky, forwards.

Schmeling Misses Radio Report of U. S. Fight

BERLIN, Feb. 28—(AP)—Max Schmeling, who probably will meet Jack Sharkey in next summer's big heavyweight fight, missed the radio news of the Boston sailor's triumph over Phil Scott at Miami, Fla.

While most of Berlin's fight fans were listening to a broadcast, Max was on the train coming from Garmish in the Bavarian Alps.

The fight results, first broadcast in English, then translated into German, came over clearly through the first and third rounds, but reception was blurred during the second.

COMMISSIONERS SET DATES FOR HEARINGS

Petitions for Three Improvement Projects To Come Before Board

A hearing on the Wolford ditch petition will be held by the county commissioners at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the common pleas court room.

Fourteen hundred pieces of property are affected by the proposed ditch. The estimated cost is $3,812.85. It is located in Marion township, west of the city.

Commissioners yesterday fixed dates for viewing and hearing petitions for two ditches.

The Furstenberger ditch in Richland township, whose deepening, widening and straightening is sought by Smart & Waddell, will be viewed on March 24, and the hearing will be held at 10 o'clock on March 29. The ditch is a half-mile in length.

The petition of William Reed and others for the reconstruction of the Kerr ditch in Scott township will be heard at 10 o'clock on April 5. The ditch will be viewed on March 25.

London's famous Lord Mayor's coach was built in 1757, weighs nearly four tons, and is not very comfortable to ride in, as it is suspended on leather braces instead of springs.

NAVAL CONFERENCE IS RIDING EASIER

Liberals Stave Off Defeat of MacDonald by Saving Coal Mine Bill

LONDON, Feb. 28—(AP)—With immediate threat of fall of the British government removed, the five-power naval conference rode somewhat easier today.

Pending return of a French delegation which will permit fuller negotiations, attention was centered on the conversations between the American and Japanese delegations.

A handful of Liberals staved off defeat of the MacDonald ministry in the commons on the second reading of the coal mine bill by voting with the government. Four Liberals voted for the bill and eight others abstained. The government won by a scant margin of nine votes, 280 to 271.

Would Have Been Blow

British politicians shunted interest in the naval conference in the excitement of the moment. Just as in France, the conference almost disappeared from view in the confusion incident to the ministerial crisis. A defeat of the British government would have been a blow far greater than the government defeats in France, since under the British system of resignation of the ministry, dissolution of parliament, and a new general election—a matter of six weeks—probably would have been involved.

The government is not safely past threat of defeat on the measure yet, since the bill, which was passed on second reading, still must go through report stage and a third reading. Immediate further consideration was adjourned on motion of Mr. MacDonald who said that William Graham, president of the board of trade, author of the measure, had collapsed of overwork shortly after the house division.

Serious Obstacles

The labor vote of 280 in the division of the bill was made up of 270 labor members, four liberals, four independents and two Irish nationalists.

The opposition vote of 271 included 228 conservatives, 42 liberals, and one independent. On the first reading of the measure the government's victory was only eight votes, both readings constituting the most serious obstacles the government has had as yet to overcome.

Men of Lodge Guests of Auxiliary at Supper

The auxiliary to Marion Camp No. 3805, Modern Woodmen of America, gave a chili supper for the men of the lodge last night in Junior Order hall. Mrs. Earl Bircher and Miss Rosella Schaffer were hostesses.

Both the auxiliary and the lodge held a joint meeting following the supper. Three members were initiated into the auxiliary and three names were balloted on. The women witnessed the lodge work. The next meeting will be held March 13 with Mrs. George Short and Mrs. Ira Eckels as the entertaining committee.

For the guidance of strangers the municipal authorities of Berlin have erected a large, glass covered map of the city at a central point.

"KONJOLA ONLY MEDICINE THAT DID ANY GOOD"

Spent Hundreds of Dollars Seeking Relief He Found At Last in Modern Medicine

MR. CLEMENT VANGUNDY

"Konjola is the only medicine that did me any good," said Mr. Clement VanGundy, Groveport, near Columbus. "Had I taken Konjola years ago it would have saved me hundreds of dollars. My stomach and liver were in terrible condition. I ate only because it was necessary to sustain life, for whatever I ate caused fierce pain and misery. Finally my nerves gave way under the strain, and I lost weight steadily. The outlook was anything but bright as medicine after medicine failed to reach the spot.

"I heard a lot about Konjola, but unfortunately I did not consider seriously. Something had to be done, and I thought I might as well try Konjola as anything else. Well, this fine medicine sure gave me a delightful surprise, as it turned out to be just what I needed. Three bottles of Konjola conquered all my ailments and I feel better all over. I am enjoying health and vigor I never expected to have again."

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Turning New Pages

WITH EDNA S. DUTTON

ADVENTURES aplenty abound in D. Harold Hickey's sea story, "Up Anchor," published by the Abingdon Press. The author is a graduate from the Boston University School of Theology and has held important pastorates in Methodist churches in Springfield, Medford and Lynn, Mass. His sailor life was not an unimportant part of his preparation for the ministry.

A college boy whose health demanded outdoor life for a time shipped out of Bangor, Me., on the Miles Merry. Because he had never steered a three-master the captain gave him a donkey engine to run and they called him "Chief." Later Mike Bunes helped make him a sailor on a three-master bound for Savannah.

After some experience of coast-wise steamers, sailors' boarding houses and motley crews, the young man signed up for deep water as a member of the crew of the English four-master barque, Falls of Garry, bound for Sydney, New South Wales.

With his comrade Bob he next shipped on the Palgrave, bound for the West Coast of South America. With his best suit of clothes on he swam ashore at Iquique and left the ship. After two weeks on shore the call of the sea lured him on the German four-master Polymenia in the saltpeter trade. Here he found himself at home for to his surprise all the German sailors spoke English having learned it in school. With $30 in his pocket he landed in Hamberg but it was a long ways to America. After spending some time in various ports he found himself in London from where he worked his way home in the galley helping the cook.

Along with being a sea story it is a human interest yarn. Actors throng the pages from all ports in the world with a vividness and realism that is gripping, and the reader travels with interest, crossing the line and meeting King Neptune, rounding Cape Horn and out to sea.

Thriller in "Nighthawks"

CHINAMEN, Greeks, Dutchmen, dope fiends, white slavers, safe crackers, reformed criminals, a mysterious, beautiful lady, or what have you are to be found in John G. Brandon's novel, "Nighthawks," a good old-fashioned "melodrammer." The story itself is concerned with the breaking of a dope ring. For him who gloats over Oriental cruelties, for him who likes his women scintillatingly beautiful and mysterious, and his heroes red blooded and quick to pick a justifiable fight, the story is the answer to the longing for an exciting evening with a book.

"Lion" in Braille for Blind Readers

MARTIN JOHNSON'S "Lion," an exciting narrative of his experiences with the king of the jungle, has just been put into Braille for the edification of blind readers. Putnam's are Martin Johnson's publishers.

Biography in "Unafraid"

A LIFE of Anne Hutchinson is told in Winifred King Rugg's novel, "Unafraid." The story is a model piece of Colonial history and of intuitive dramatic visualization. The book is published by Houghton, Mifflin Co.

"The Breed of Basil" Is Poetry in Prose

"THE BREED OF BASIL," by Thomas Bell proves that poets are born and not made and that high romance is visioned, not manufactured. The story is a romance and the scene the Kingdom of Illyria. It tells of Louis of Basil, who remained to the end a philosopher, of his son, Francis, who was ashamed of what he was, and of Elizabeth, his daughter, who was the most beautiful woman who ever were flesh and among the most generous; and of Brian, mostly of Brian, Duke of Malvern. The tale of the adventures of young Brian and of the love he shared with Eleanor de Luce is as enchanting as a morning in April and firm and crisp of texture, like snow on the heights of the world.

"Featherland," a Story for Boys and Girls

"FEATHERLAND," by Etta Corbett Gibson, is a story for children. It tells of a summer spent by a flock of birds in the woods and meadows of Hill Farm. Robin Redbreast, who acts as nest agent, is the chief character and, while he is not noted for fine nest building himself, he gives good advice to his customers, trying his best to suit their varying demands. It is in his office that the birds gather to relate the happenings of Featherland such as their experiences in a bad storm which did much damage to their little colony, the "mystery" in Farmer Hill's cherry orchard, and the tragedy of heedless little Johnny Wren who built her nest in a pump. There is also an account of a county fair held by the birds where various contests and exhibitions take place. Here the birds display their special talents in racing, drilling holes in logs, getting food on the wing, walking upside down on the branch of a tree, singing, etc. The author has illustrated her own book with full pages in color. Robert M. McBride & Co. are the publishers.

"Filibuster" Is Colorful Novel

COLONEL ACLAND tells a delightfully carefree tale of two hard-fisted and soft-hearted Irishmen who sell themselves as soldiers of fortune to foment a revolution in the uncharted South American republic of Unabos, in his novel, "Filibuster." Filibustering is shown at its most enjoyable, and it is an enjoyment that is communicated to the reader. John Carstone and Tim Doon, two Irish adventurers, are extremely likeable and natural, while Dona Anna de Perada is both beautiful and inscrutable.

Between-Meal Eating Seen as Women's Diet Obstacle

A PHYSICIAN, who happens to be a bachelor, put the query the other day:

"Will you solve a mystery for me? Why do women eat when alone?"

Again and again he has specified diets for women who are at home and therefore usually have at least one meal a day by themselves. He is sure him that they follow them religiously. And his theory is that the woman in the home is not able to do so—much more than the business woman who dines in restaurants. There's nothing to stop the home woman from eating only and exactly what the diet prescribes—even if it means measuring or weighing the quantities. The home offers every facility for doing so conveniently.

Queer Circumstances

And yet—the queer thing is that the favorable results of following his prescriptions don't follow. Can it be that the dear ladies are deceiving their doctor?

The chances are more that they are deceiving themselves. It is a very simple matter to follow the rules for breakfast, luncheon and dinner. You prepare so much of just this—and no more. But the unforeseen factor is the in-between-meals nibble. Many women who tell you exactly what they had for three meals, and are absolutely truthful about it, forget entirely all the things they had in between. Lunch may be bouillon and toast, as per orders. But the temptations of the cake tin, the candy box or the bowl of fruit are ever-present in the home. Unthinkingly the home woman may eat during the course of the day more than her allowance of calories for three meals, and do it all in nibbles that seem like nothing at the time.

Has Advantage

Really, the business woman who has definite hours for meals three times a day, and no more—and no opportunity for eating in between times is in much better position to observe a diet painlessly than the woman in the comforts of home!

There is, too, a tendency toward commendable economy which, however, does not always work to the woman's advantage. The left-overs of last night's dinner are prudently segregated for her next day's luncheon. Which would be perfectly all right if the left-overs were balanced. Too often they are not. And the next-day meal may consist of an excess of creamed dish—but no vegetables, since there are none left, and the single dish is filling enough.

It might be well for the home woman to take a hint from the business woman's lunch. According to restaurant reports, this is more and more tending toward a salad, a sandwich and milk. Business women invariably eat lightly.

Mystery of Planets Not Solved, Collegian Says

O. W. U. Professor Sees Need of "Astronomical" Sherlock Holmes

DELAWARE, Feb. 28—"Some astronomers believe there may be yet other planets which revolve about the sun, far out beyond the orbit of Neptune, but we still lack the Sherlock Holmes to place his fingers upon them," Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director of Perkins Observatory at Ohio Wesleyan university here, told a capacity crowd attending the monthly visitors night at the observatory Wednesday night. "The Wandering Planets," was the subject of Dr. Stetson's talk.

"The most conspicuous object in the night sky during the winter months has been the planet Jupiter," Dr. Stetson explained, in beginning his talk. "Jupiter's distance when nearest to us is only about 400,000,000 miles—a rather small number as figures in astronomy go. Yet Jupiter is hardly near enough to do much eavesdropping on the limitation of armaments conference.

Temperature Changes

"Until recently Jupiter was regarded as a rather hot place to live in, as it was believed that the planet had hardly cooled from the primordial state of volcanic fires. However, delicate electrical devices have wrested some of the secret of Jupiter's climatology and make the planet appear to be a rather cold cheerless place to live after all. The thing contributing most to its cheerlessness is a perpetual cloudless sky.

"Far off Neptune has never yet been seen to make a complete circuit about the sun since its discovery in 1846," said Dr. Stetson in discussing the way in which the eight planets circulate about the sun.

"The discovery of Neptune gave the astronomers one of the greatest thrills ever known to science," Dr. Stetson declared as a preface to an account of the event.

Hiding Place Uncovered

"Neptune's presence in the sky had been felt by its disturbing effect on the other planets much as we feel the presence of an unseen person in a detective story," Dr. Stetson explained. "In the middle of the nineteenth century two brilliant mathematicians played the part of Sherlock Holmes and tracked the malicious Neptune to his hiding place.

With mathematical certainty, they told the astronomers where in the sky to look for the suspected body. Then the search began and in less than a half-hour the astronomers saw the planet in their telescope. It was not a moon's breath away from the portion of the sky indicated by the pointing finger of the mathematician."

NO WONDER YOU FEEL SICK

When Constipation Gets Its Grip You Can't Keep Well. What You Need Is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

That tired feeling, that persistent headache, that bad breath are often symptoms of constipation.

There is only one thing to do—clean out your system. Do it now or you may be seriously sick. Your intestines are clogged because you have not eaten enough roughage. And there is no better roughage than that healthful, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is a natural food that brings natural results regularly. Its fiber content sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes. Much better than habit-forming pills which become useless unless their dose is increased.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research has proved that practically all of this iron goes into the blood—bringing the glowing color of health to the complexion and strengthening the entire body. A wonderful way to enjoy keeping well!

You will like the nut-sweet flavor of ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream—fruits or honey. By letting ALL-BRAN soak a few moments in milk or cream, its rich flavor is brought out.

Use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in making muffins and hot breads. Recipes on the package. Sprinkle it into soups, on salads. Mix it in scrambled eggs or meat loaf, add it to every diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—recurrent cases, with every meal. Sold by all grocers. Served in hotels, restaurants, on dining-cars. It is the original ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.—Adv.

COMMUNISM IN CAPITAL SCHOOL

Edith Brisco (left) and Helen Colodny as they appeared leaving court at Washington, D. C., after being arrested in connection with a Communist demonstration in the downtown section. The latter, who is a pupil in Central High school, made the startling statement that 300 District of Columbia school students are active in the Communist party. Although Assistant School Superintendent Stephen E. Kramer discounted her assertion, he admitted that an organized campaign was in existence for the purpose of spreading radical propaganda among the school children.

MARTEL, Feb. 28—Members of the Besta-Bit club, met Tuesday night with Mrs. Harley Redoek. The time was spent with games and contest, Mrs. B. C. Downs winning first honors. The hostess served a two-course lunch. Officers were elected for the year. They are Mrs. Z. O. Emehizer, president; Mrs. Fred Baldinger, secretary; Mrs. A. S. Downs, treasurer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. O. Wilkins.

Why?

You might think it unnecessary bother to raise tomatoes from special seed—to send experts to the Indian Ocean for spices—to age cider vinegar for months in wood . . . just to make Ketchup.

But how else could Heinz make a tomato ketchup so flavorful, so irresistible, that it outsells all others year in and year out?

Variety of Crackers Provides Handy Supply for Arrangement of Luncheons

CRACKERS can be used to advantage in most any course of a luncheon or dinner and supply a different appetizer to the menu. Stock a small shelf containing half a dozen varieties of crackers and the possibilities are sure to bring forth a happy suggestion.

For the first course crackers can act as a superior substitute for the ordinary canape. If time is short a cheese can be, any of the plain soup crackers unsweetened of course, can be spread with a paste made of grated cheese soft butter and salt and pepper to taste. This is placed on a hot pan and left in a hot oven for a minute or two until the cheese melts. Then serve at once.

Any cracker can be spread with other pastes — anchovy paste, chopped ham and so on, and crisped hot in the oven instead of covering a round of toast with the same mixture.

New Type Unsweetened

Here's a recipe the whole family will like:
One can Pink Salmon, 1 cup cracker crumbs, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons sweet milk. Remove bones from Salmon, break meat in small pieces, add well beaten egg, milk, cracker crumbs, and season to suit taste. Mix and spread in baking dish, filling to within 2 inches of top. Bake for 20 minutes, remove from oven and spread mashed potatoes (2 inches deep) over the top. Make hollows in the potatoes and pour a spoonful of thick tomato soup in each hollow. Return to oven for 10 minutes and serve.

THIMBLE THEATER — BY SEGAR

WONDER IF WE'LL EVER SEE AMERICA AGAIN? I HATE TO STARVE ON THIS ISLAND
PANKY, YOU'RE A O.K. KID FROM HEAD TO FEET
I HOPE POPEYE BRINGS BACK SOME FOOD! I'D HELP LOOK FOR SOME BUT I DON'T KNOW A THING ABOUT TROPICAL ISLANDS
WHIFFLE
STRANGER, I'M ASKIN' FOR FOOD AN' I'M GONER HAVE IT - YA SEE WHAT I MEAN? SAVVY?
YOU UGLY LOOKIN' MUTT, I'LL THROW YOU INTO THE OCEAN
MISTER, YOU WON'T BE ALIVE WHEN THE SUN SETS! THAT'S THE FIRST TIME I WAS EVER KNOCKED DOWN AND I DON'T LIKE IT!
AW, YOU'LL GET USED TO IT IF YOU TANGLE WITH ME MUCH!

JUST KIDS — BY AD CARTER

AW I GO OUT AN' PLAY- YOU-HUH-MOM-JES' SET A LITTLE WHILE? YOU'LL BE WELL GOOD- QUEST-MOM
NOT NOW - I'M AFRAID TO LET YOU OUT OF MY SIGHT!
I'LL BE VERY CAREFUL-MOM- HONEST-I'LL LOOK UP AN DOWN BEFORE I CROSS THE STREET-
IT'S A WONDER TO ME YOU DON'T HURT YOUR SELF MORE OFTEN
NO MATTER HOW OFTEN I WARN YOU-EVERY TIME YOU GO OUT-YOU WILL RUN THOSE VERY DANGEROUS TREES AND POLES!
GOSH-MOM-I HAVE TO HAVE SOME FRESH AIR MOM— DON'T I?

KRAZY KAT — BY HERRIMAN

BRINGING UP FATHER — BY GEORGE McMANUS

IT'S AWFUL QUIET IN HERE, BUT IT'S BETTER THAN LISTENING TO HOUSE-BUILDING ALL THE TIME
AH- THE RADIO- I'LL LISTEN IN STATION S-T-U-C-C-O- MANSARD SPEAKING- WE WILL NOW BROADCAST OUR BED-TIME STORY- "THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT"
WELL, THAT'S THAT!

TILLIE THE TOILER — BY RUSS WESTOVER

HELLO, MRS. JONES - THIS IS MAC - OH, YES, I WAS TO CALL FOR TILLIE, BUT I COULDN'T MAKE IT - HOW'D YOU LIKE TO TAKE A RIDE IN THIS CAR I'M SELLING? ABOUT FOUR O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON? ALL RIGHT, I'LL CALL FOR YOU, MRS. JONES - GOOD-BYE
LATER IN THE DAY
WHATAYA SAY WE CALL BY AND TAKE TILLIE HOME, MRS. JONES?
THAT'LL BE LOVELY, MAC. SHE'LL BE SURPRISED TO SEE ME
OH, TILLIE - YOU HAVE NO IDEA HOW NICE MACS CAR RIDES - I'VE DROPPED IN TO TAKE YOU HOME
BUT, MUMSY, MR BENNETT IS TAKING ME HOME IN THAT CAR HE'S TRYING TO SELL ME - WE'LL TAKE YOU HOME SO YOU CAN TRY HIS CAR
NO, THANKS, MAC BROUGHT ME DOWN, SO I'M GONNA LET HIM TAKE ME HOME
WELL, I'LL BE SEEIN' YOU, THEN
CONTINUED

THE GUMPS — BY SIDNEY SMITH

JEALOUS OF ME - UNCLE BIM - BENJAMIN GUMP - THE BILLIONAIRE - THAT OLD KANGAROO - THAT JUMPING JACK FROM AUSTRALIA IS JEALOUS OF SCOOGE - OLD SCOOGE HAW! HAW! HAW!
HO! - HO! - HO! JEALOUS OF ME - HE MUST BE BLIND - IF HE ONLY KNEW HOW I WAS TRYING TO PUSH THEM BOTH TO THE ALTAR - OH - PROMISE ME - OH, PROMISE ME - WHEN SHE'S MAKING THOSE PROMISES AT THE ALTAR - WHAT A LAUGH HE'D GET IF HE COULD PEEK INTO MY SAFE AND SEE THAT PROMISSORY NOTE SHE GAVE ME -
SCOOGE
HAW! HAW! HAW! HE WILL BE JEALOUS OF ME WHEN HE SEES ME STAGGERING AWAY UNDER THAT LOAD OF GREENBACKS - SIX MONTHS AFTER THE RICE THROWING CONTEST TAKES PLACE - 40% LOVE - BAH!
SIDNEY SMITH

POLLY AND HER PALS — BY CLIFF STERRETT

MY GOSH, UNK! HOW COME Y'SENT POOR ELMER DOWN CELLAR WHILE CARRIE WAS THERE?
Y' DERN DUNCE! Y' DONT SPOSE I KNEW SHE WAS THERE, DO YE?
HELP! HELP! THERE'S A MAN DOWN CELLAR! I HEARD HIM BREATHE!
NONSENSE, CARRIE! THAT'S JUST THE CAT! SEE! CAT! KITTY!! CAT!!
I GUESS YOU'RE RIGHT, SAMUEL! HOW SILLY OF ME, TO HAVE LET MY IMAGINATION GET THE BETTER OF ME!
MEW MEW MRROW MEW MEEW
EEK?
MEW MEW MEW
CLIFF STERRETT 2-28

TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY

YOUR COUSIN BEANIE SENT YOU A NECK-TIE FOR CHRISTMAS AND YOU HAVEN'T THANKED HIM FOR IT YET! WHEN ANYBODY GIVES YOU ANYTHING THE LEAST YOU CAN DO IS THANK HIM!
OH, I DON'T KNOW ABOUT THAT!
WELL, I KNOW!!
COLONEL HOOFER HAD A COLD WHEN HE CAME HERE YESTERDAY, AND HE GAVE IT TO ME! DO I HAVE TO THANK HIM FOR THAT?
KA-CHOO- KA-CHOO= KA-CHOO= KA--
GOOD NIGHT!
I'M NOT UNGRATEFUL, BUT YOU CAN'T EXPECT ME TO STAND UP AND GIVE THREE CHEERS EVERY TIME SOME GUY TOSSES ME A HANDFUL OF GERMS - ANYTIME I NEED A NICE, MISERABLE, YOUNG COLD, I'VE GOT THE SPEED AND ENDURANCE TO CATCH ONE MYSELF - IF HE HAS ANY USED MONEY, LET HIM GIVE IT TO ME - AND I'LL THANK HIM UNTIL HE GETS AN EAR-ACHE - BUT IF HE EXPECTS ANY THANKS FOR GIVING ME A SECOND-HAND COLD - HE'S MAKING A BIGGER MISTAKE THAN THE GUY WHO ATE THE TOAD-STOOLS -
2-28
JIMMY MURPHY

JERRY ON THE JOB — BY HOBAN

DICEBOXITIS OR NO DICEBOXITIS
MR. JOHN P. GINNEY REFUSES TO HAVE ANY TRUCK WITH THAT MEDICINE KNOWN TO ONE AND ALL AS TIGER MARROW FAT!
AND HIS CONVICTION HAS BECOME SUCH THAT HE IS FORCED TO NEGLECT HIS DUTIES = OF COURSE THIS STATE OF AFFAIRS CANNOT CONTINUE = AND WHY SHOULD IT ??
I'M A DIRECTOR OF THIS COMPANY, MR. GINNEY - AND IF YOU'RE TO CONTINUE AS OUR PRESIDENT YOU'VE GOT TO LOOK TO YOUR HEALTH.
SURE - I KNOW.
YOU REALLY SHOULD TRY THIS TIGER MARROW FAT - IT'LL MAKE A REGULAR TIGER OUT OF YOU.
NONO - NOT THAT.
ALL MY LIFE I'VE BEEN TRYING TO KEEP FROM WEARING STRIPES!

CAREY DISTRICT RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Clyde Wentling Passes Away in Hospital: Funeral Sunday

CAREY Feb 28—Funeral services will be held here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Clyde Wentling, 16, of near here, who died last night in a Findlay hospital following a recent operation.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Wentling is survived by three children. They are Mrs. Lloyd Hull, of Carey, Mrs. William Spokey, of near Carey, and Wendell, at home. Three brothers and three sisters also survive.

Services will be held in the Crawford M. E. church with Rev. M. A. Bradley in charge. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

FIVE LOCAL BANKS GET CITY'S FUNDS

Sinking Fund Trustees Name Depositories for Coming Year

Money of the sinking fund of the city will be held in five local banks as depositories the board of sinking fund trustees decided last night when the five local banks submitting bids offered identical interest rates of three and a half percent for inactive funds, and two and a quarter per cent for active funds.

Inactive funds of the sinking fund will be divided among the following banks: Marion County Bank, Commercial Bank, Fahey Bank, National City Bank & Trust Co., and Marion National Bank.

The National City Bank & Trust Co. was made depository for active funds according to Paul Eschman, secretary of the board.

Payment of $102,000 due March 1 on the bond retirement schedule of the city was authorized by the board last night. Taxes that amount will be due on Sept. 1 according to Secretary Eschman.

DOWN SHE GOES

Temperature Takes 21 Degree Drop in Day

Marion was given a taste of freezing weather when the mercury dropped well below the 32 degree mark last night. A low temperature of 25 degrees was reported last night following a 21 degree drop in temperature yesterday afternoon and last night.

Clouds and warmer weather tonight, followed by rain late tonight or Saturday was the official forecast of weather prognosticators today.

Location of Youth's Home Puzzles Court

Disposition of the case of Paul Cooper, 15, who was picked up last week by detectives in the Erie railroad yards, is still puzzling Judge Oscar Gast.

Cooper told Judge Gast and detention home officials that his home is in Huntington, W. Va., but when confronted last night with a wire from Huntington police that his family had moved to Akron a year ago he admitted it to be true.

Efforts are being made to get in touch with the boy's family, whose address the boy gave.

INJURES WRIST

PROFIT-TAKING HITS SESSION'S PROGRESS

Score of Issues Mark Up Advances of from One to Six Points

MAIL ORDER SALES UP

Little Change Is Made in Character of Day's Business News

NEW YORK, Feb 28—(AP)—The stock market continued to creep upward today although its progress was interrupted now and then by profit-taking and occasional flurries of short selling. Gains of one to six points were again distributed over a fairly broad list, with more than a score issues, including American Telephone, Rame, Westinghouse Electric and Paramount Famous Lasky, reaching new high ground for the year.

There was no change in the character of the business news. More 1929 favorable earnings reports, mostly those of small companies, made their appearance. Sears Roebuck reported a slight gain in sales for the first eight weeks of the year, and an extra dividend of 25 cents was declared on Congress Cigar.

Acquisition of the Packard Trust Co. by the Manufacturers-Midland Corp., and the Kraft Phenix Cheese Co. by the National Dairy Products Co. was announced during the day.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent but was stopped to four when the supply of funds became so plentiful that the official opening rate was shaded in the outside market. The time money market was quiet with the undertone easier. No change was announced in the Chicago federal reserve bank rates. The drop of $5,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans yesterday was somewhat less than generally expected.

Coppers displayed a sharp reversal of form in today's market, early declines of one to two points being replaced by gains of similar extent in the early afternoon. Anaconda Copper rallied from a low of 71¾ to above 75.

Recent strength of American Telephone, which ran up 31½ points to 241 today, has been accompanied by reports of an early announcement regarding foreign development of sound reproducing devices controlled by the company as well as by talk of an early issue of stock purchase rights. International Telephone, which recently acquired a controlling interest in a large German telephone concern, rallied in sympathy.

High Grade Bonds Issues Stronger

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—(AP)—Increasing confidence, supported by an easier tone in the money markets, extended bond trading today. The list was thin in spots, but high grade issues gave evidence of further ability to strengthen their positions.

The feature of the market was the heavy accumulation of American Telephone convertible 4½s, which equalled their 1930 high of 109, an advance of about three points. International Telephone 4½s were up a point, but were sluggish. Wickwire Spencer Steel convertible 7s, which had a sharp rise recently, gained one.

Trading in domestic bonds found few important fluctuations. New Haven 3½s of 1951 and 1950 rallied from 1½ to 2½ points. Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, were among firm.

Curb Dull with Prices Irregular

NEW YORK, Feb 28—(AP)—Price drifted about uncertainly on the curb market today, as trading turned dull, and speculators were inclined to curtail operations. Utilities maintained a fairly firm undertone despite considerable selling, while some of the oils were rather heavy. Industrials were quiet and highly irregular.

A few of the electrical manufacturing issues rose substantially. Jefferson Electric and Radio Products reached new high ground. Elder Electric sold up close to the year's best level, but encountered scalping. General Electric of Germany, however, was a soft spot losing more than two points.

Ford Motor, Ltd., was in good demand, in response to declaration of a 10 percent dividend yesterday. The issue sold above 15 to a new 1930 high. Celanese responded to a favorable 1929 earnings statement with a moderate rise. Air stocks were irregular. Fokker sold moderately higher. While Bellanca sagged. Technicolor fell back a few points.

Business News from Wall St.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—(AP)—Imports of unmanufactured copper in January totaled 35,695 tons, compared with 28,188 tons in December, and 32,941 tons in November, says the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Exports in January totaled 20,700 tons against 25,227 in December and 222,962 in November.

Henry A. Scandrett, President of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad, estimates that the decline in gross revenues of the company this month as compared with February, 1929, will be about the same as the January decline. The next operating income from the current month, however, he believes, probably will show a smaller decline than that reported for the first month of the current year. He says business generally in the northwest remains quiet, although he expects an improvement some time in April.

U. S. Bonds

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—(INS)—Opening price quotations on Liberty bonds here today were: 3 1-2s, 99.18; 4th 4 1-4s, 101.9.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Marion market prices were firm this morning, despite an anticipated upward trend in prices from the cold weather.

Egg prices, which have been low for more than a week, due to the mildness of warm weather and increased production of eggs in this county, are expected to regain a few cents of their former prices tomorrow or over the week-end according to grocers today.

BELIEVE RUSTLERS FIRED ON AIRPLANE

Ship Crashes, Killing Girl, Injuring Another and Hurting Pilot

WALSENBURG, Colo., Feb. 28—(AP)—The theory of a pilot that his plane was crippled by shots fired at it by cattle rustlers caused an investigating today into an airplane crash that brought death to a high school girl and serious injuries to another on isolated Mosca Pass yesterday.

Miss Elsie Noble, 16, a student at Centennial High school, Pueblo, was killed and Miss Abra Tallow, 16, also a student at the school, seriously injured. Harry Miller, the pilot of the plane which was owned by the Alamosa Airways, Inc., suffered slight injuries.

Sheriff Harry J. Capps of Huerfano county will head a posse to the scene of the crash to investigate the theory given by Miller, who told authorities he felt two shots hit the plane after which an aileron refused to function. The plane became unmanageable, he said, and crashed. Just before the accident, he said, he looked down to see two horsemen racing away into the hills. Authorities said cattle rustlers have been active in the vicinity of the fatal accident, and that the plane might have been fired upon by rustlers who thought it contained men spying on them.

ANNUAL DINNER HELD AT LEGION DUGOUT

Mayor and Scout Executive Give Talks at Assembly of Boy Scouts

Troop No. 5, Boy Scouts, the American Legion troop, held an annual dinner last night at the legion dugout, with 74 covers laid, James Llewellyn presided as toastmaster.

Among the speakers for the occasion were Mayor L. Don Jones and Scout Executive Walter C. Brown, who gave talks on the future of the troop. The troop has a unique background. It was founded in November, 1918, at the same time the American Legion post was organized.

The troop charter and registration certificates were distributed by Scout Executive Brown. Floyd G. Browne was introduced as the new scoutmaster of the troop.

At the close of the program, the boys, under the direction of Robert Annen, assistant scoutmaster, gave a one-act sketch. Music for the dinner and social hour was furnished by a 12-piece orchestra.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Kenton City Officials To Discuss Bond Issue

KENTON, Feb. 28—The question of whether or not refunding bonds are to be issued to meet the 1930 obligations of the Board of Sinking Fund trustees, will be decided at a meeting of the Kenton city council Tuesday.

The present Republican administration, alleging that the retiring Democratic administration cut the tax rate too low, declares that refunding bonds in the amount of $20,000 must be issued to maintain the city's credit.

Retiring Democratic officials have taken issue holding that refunding bonds are not necessary and have presented a series of facts to substantiate their contention.

As the matter now stands, the question of refunding bonds rests with city council.

No, It's Not a Pi Line, it's the Man's Name; but, Judge, He'd Like To Change It to Shep

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—(AP)—The man's name was (Linotype operator: better start new line)

Wladyslaw Szczepaniliewicz.

In Poland it would be pronounced (one guess is as good as another); but in America it simply is not pronounced.

Mr. Szczepaniliewicz said in superior court yesterday he was an American citizen and yearned to have people greeting him say, "How do you do, Mr. Szczepaniliewicz? How are you today, Mr. Szczepaniliewicz?" but it was out of the question. He petitioned to have it changed from Wladyslaw Szczepaniliewicz to Walter Shep.

A son, Mieczyslaw Szczepaniliewicz, also wants to be known hereafter as plain Matthew Shep.

If the court agrees to substitute Shep for Szczepaniliewicz, it is not unlikely the typographical union will offer a rising vote of thanks.

RECOVER STOLEN CAR

A Hudson coach, stolen in Marion on Feb. 7, and belonging to H. R. Ford, of Meeker, was recovered yesterday in Kenton, according to information received by Sheriff J. J. Frazis from Sheriff Mert Ansley of Hardin county.

The machine was undamaged. When found, it bore license plates apparently stolen from an automobile at Agosta.

Card Party Is Given by Eagles' Auxiliary

Twenty tables were filled for cards when the Ladies' Auxiliary to Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, gave a euchre party last night at the Eagles hall.

Mrs. D. L. Clark and Joseph Conroy won first honors. Second honors were awarded Mrs. Ray Zachman and Lloyd Latimore. Refreshments were served. A party will be given in two weeks.

MOTHER GIVES COAT TO SAVE HER BABY

Searchers Find Child Sleeping Beside Mother Dead from Exposure

MAGDALENA, N. M., Feb. 28—(AP)—Wrapped warmly in cloth sacrificed by a mother dying from exposure, the two-year-old child of Mrs. Virginia Lopez was found asleep in the mountains near here beside the frozen body of the mother.

A party of searchers located the dead mother and her child late last night. The baby, snuggled in clothing the mother had taken from her own body, suffered only slightly from lack of food.

Mrs. Lopez with her baby and Miss Mercedes Gonzales started yesterday by automobile for the George Goze ranch. Their car broke down and they continued on foot. While seeking a short cut across the hills, they became lost.

Miss Gonzales struck out alone, when Mrs. Lopez, burdened with the child, was unable to go further. The girl reached a main highway and led a searching party of 20 from Magdalena back into the hills.

BANK SWINDLE CASE ENDS; 12 SENTENCED

Officials of Institution Who Embezzled $3,592,000 Sent to Prison

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 28—With the recent sentencing of 12 former officials of the Union Industrial bank here, for embezzling $3,592,000 of the bank's funds, the curtain was drawn on one of the greatest bank swindles in financial history.

Initiating with the stock market crash of last October, these 12 men associated with some of the highest positions the bank could offer them, purged the funds of their institution in order to recoup the losses sustained in the financial debacle.

The group of men today face terms of from one to 20 years in prison and will for the first time experience prison life—something which they undoubtedly forgot to consider when they "betrayed the trust" the bank endowed them.

The maximum sentences totaled 240 years, while the minimum aggregated 40 years. Judge James S. Parker who rendered the sentences, dismissed the cases of three others whose charges were nolle prossed, following the declaration of one of the executives that they had nothing to do with the embezzlement.

John S. DeCamp, former vice president, was convicted by a jury after six hours and 15 minutes of deliberation, and was the first to be sentenced—from 10 to 20 years. However, he was released on $100,000 bond, pending a retrial.

The other sentences were as follows:

Ivan P. Christensen, 7½ to 20 years.

Elton D. Graham, 5 to 20 years.

Milton S. Pollock, 5 to 20 years.

Mark Kelly, 5 to 20 years.

Russell A. Runyon, 5 to 20 years.

Frank D. Montague, 3½ to 20 years.

James W. Barron, 2 to 20 years.

A. J. Schlosser, 1 to 20 years.

Clifford A. Plumb, 6 months to 20 years.

Robert H. D. McDonald, 6 months to 20 years.

Robert Brown, 6 months to 20 years.

Charges were dismissed against Farrell H. Thomson, Donald McGregor and George W. Woodhouse.

Death Takes Deck and "Poker Alice," One of Old West's Last, Is Claimed

RAPID CITY, S. D., Feb. 28—(AP)—Death dealing from the "Big Six" deck, flipped the ace of spades for "Poker Alice" Tubbs today. It was her admission to the big game that is death.

She was one of the last of a picturesque coterie of hard living, gun-shooting men and women who added the color—sometimes it was blood-red—to the Old West. "Deadwood Dick," "Wild Bill" Hiccok and "Calamity Jane" were others.

Poker Alice wore a man's collar, smoked cigars and could swear like a trooper; but in all of her 72 years of life she dealt from the bottom of the deck.

Leading a life as adventurous as any man's, she gambled for high stakes without a single betrayed quiver of the hand as she dealt, without the twitch of a facial muscle. Cold as the steel of the revolver she wore, she sat in unencumbered thousands of high stake games.

Yesterday she bucked a game that she—that nobody—could beat. Old age and complications, following an operation for gall stones, were given by doctors as the cause of her death on a hospital bed.

Poker Alice was English born but American bred, and always the gambler. She started as a faro dealer. A woman at the box was a novelty that drew the black beards of the wild west, with their bags of gold, to the gambling table. So successful was she, that soon she was known, not just as a woman gambler, but as a winning gambler, man or woman.

Would Rid Chicago of Crime in Six Months

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—(AP)—"Crimeless Chicago in six months" was the slogan today of the secret committee of six.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the association of commerce, who organized the "Secret Six" and who is its only known member, promised the association that the anti-crime wave will be unremitting and said the six months estimate was based upon the length of time in which gangland facts could be obtained, indictments returned and convictions obtained.

The head of the secret committee said $1,000,000 might be necessary to insure success of the crime war and a drive to secure this amount will begin at once.

Wouldn't it be awful should some malicious wet get that 156-year-old dry Turk, coming over here as an exhibit, off on a jag?

Of course, if Vic Donahey made that stagger at poetry to show that he is qualified for a seat in the senate, that's different.

Life must have proved strenuous for the firemen in the Imperial valley of California when old Mother Nature turned in forty alarms between 3:30 Tuesday afternoon and 3:15 Wednesday morning.

Cheap money has caused the Belgians to move toward the payment of $30,000,000 of the $50,000,000 borrowed here in the United States in 1920 and which bears interest at seven and a half per cent., although the loan is not due till 1945. Wouldn't it prove a shock should France conclude to do something along that line?

A movement is afoot to bring about the removal of three state officials of Wisconsin who are members of the La Follette faction—the lieutenant governor, the attorney general and the secretary of state—for alleged violations of the election law. Just as though Senator La Follette would tolerate anything like that on the part of his lieutenants!

Unless we miss our guess, Chicago is going to have trouble handling girl communists in the future. One of the papers up there made a picture of a number of them arrested up there recently.

A survey of the postal service shows that practically 8,000 rural mailmen can be let out without crippling the service owing to the fact that the length of the routes laid out in the horse-and-buggy age may easily be doubled, now that the motor car is used in rural delivery. Another case where the machine will probably work a change of employment.

If a few more counts show 1,000 ballots cast in the French chamber of deputies by the 600 deputies entitled to vote, the suspicion may arise that some of the 600 have been guilty of ballot-box stuffing.

The Gentlemen from Nebraska.

It should soon become apparent to the two Nebraska senators, George W. Norris and Robert B. Howell, that they are overplaying their hands by making statements in the hope of causing embarrassment to President Hoover which are utterly inconsistent alike with fact and reason.

Something like a month ago, the latter asserted that the city of Washington could be cleansed of its bootleggers, its law violators and its corruptionists by a word, we believe he put it "one word," from President Hoover.

A few days ago Senator Norris was quoted as saying that Mr. Hoover could "wipe out corruption in prohibition enforcement" by one sentence. Last Monday Mr. Norris renewed his attack by declaring that he supposed it was "a matter of common knowledge that the prohibition department is entirely shot through with graft and corruption," thereby recalling to public notice and attention his earlier declaration regarding the presidential powers.

It can hardly be held that either Senator Norris or Senator Howell is mentally deficient to such an extent as to unfit them for ordinary reasoning. Let us accept them as possessors of at least average intelligence. Accepting them as such, they must know that neither President Hoover nor any other man or official could perform as they set out; that neither Mr. Hoover nor any other human being could clean up Washington by a word, as claimed by Senator Howell; that neither President Hoover nor any one else could wipe corruption out of prohibition enforcement by a stroke of the pen, as claimed by Senator Norris. Each of them must have known that he was uttering a statement beyond the limits of truth, and each should have known that people of average intelligence would recognize his statement as a wide departure from the truth.

And Senator Norris, who is particularly active in his assaults on President Hoover, as he was in his assaults on Hoover, the candidate, should know that the country very generally is acquainted with the old game, worked by hypocritical politicians back to the time when the memory of man goeth not to the contrary, of supporting a measure for the sake of political expediency, and regardless of its possible effect, and then charging failure of enforcement to those to whom its enforcement is committed, regardless of whether or no such enforcement may be possible as a result of human endeavor.

The Seventy-Five Mile Guns.

During the present recess in the activities of the London five-power conference, called in the hope of reducing the burden of armed preparedness by limiting the construction and maintenance of the most costly of all implements of war, it may prove interesting to go back something over a decade to certain mighty engines of destruction which figured in the great world conflict.

When cables from Paris, twelve years ago the coming month, told of the shelling of that city by an enemy gun from a distance of seventy-five miles, the attitude of the majority of our people was very much that of the small boy who exclaimed: "There ain't no sich animule!" It was simply beyond the belief of the American people that any gun could throw a shell the distance stated. It is very probable that many still regard the shelling of the French capital by such a gun a myth, yet Professor H. W. Miller, of the University of Michigan, who was head of the railroad artillery of the American forces in France, not only vouched for the story, one day recently, before a gathering up in Chicago of a thousand reserve officers of the headquarters artillery group, but also described the guns—there were four of them—their locations and the details of their operation.

One of the guns, the first, was located at Crepy, seventy-five miles from Paris; the second at Beaumont, sixty-nine miles away; the third at Bruceres, fifty-six miles distant, and the fourth was mounted close to the second at Beaumont. His story of the construction of the guns of the type and their operation was too technical to be readily understood by one not versed in the connection between wind currents, barometric pressures, temperatures, the spherical shape of the earth and the operation of such guns.

The substance of his description was that the guns had barrels 130 feet long and were sufficiently strong at the breech to withstand a pressure of 70,000 pounds to the square inch. The shells were rifled to fit the rifling of the barrels and had to be twisted into the breech. The muzzle velocity was 5,400 feet a second, which carried the 264-pound projectiles they fire to a height of forty-eight miles, when trained on a target seventy-five miles distant, before they began to fall. The first shot was fired at 7:17 a. m., March 23, 1918, and hit Paris at 7:20. That day twenty-five shells were fired into the city, and during the time the four guns were operated, 367 shells were shot into the city, causing property damage estimated at $10,000,000, and some life loss, but far from so great as might have been anticipated, the people of Paris having quickly learned to seek shelter at the sounding of the alarms signifying that the city was being bombarded.

And yet, horrible as the thought of bombardments by such guns may be, they would be as nothing compared with the horrors which another such a war would bring with aviation developed to the state it is today, when bombs of many times the destructive powers of these shells of twelve years ago could be dropped and death-dealing gasses loosened upon helpless cities, which would kills thousands where these guns killed tens.

It may be said that the rules of civilized warfare would prevent such bombardments. That was said before the World war, but it will be recalled that the rules of warfare suffered the same fate in that conflict as treaty obligations.

Let us not deceive ourselves, if another mighty war comes, the many horrors of the past will be utterly eclipsed.

The supreme court of Colorado holds companionate marriage against public policy and decency, pronouncing it "nothing more, in effect, than an attempt to legalize prostitution." Evidently the "marriage reform" idea of Ben Lindsey, former judge of Denver's juvenile court, is held in just about the same lack of esteem at home as it is among decent-minded people throughout the land.

The Detroit city council has unanimously passed a resolution for the immediate dismissal of 748 laborers employed by the city who are not citizens of the United States. It's a lot easier to understand why they were dismissed than to figure out why they ever were hired.

The first three days of this week $43,980,100 of the $74,000,000 fund planned were subscribed up in Chicago to operate the city, county, public schools and sanitary district up to July 1. Despite the many sins of one element of its citizenship, it has another in which the spirit of civic patriotism ranks as high as any to be found throughout the length and breadth of the land.

A young New Yorker fell from a window of his bedroom on the fifth floor of an apartment building, struck two radio aerials on his way down and caromed from a leaning fence into a yard, suffering only slight injuries. What we can not understand is how it happened that a man with luck like that didn't find, upon recovering his breath, his fingers clutching a bag of diamonds, or something like that.

The V-5, one of the nine big fleet submarines authorized by congress, will be launched March 15 and the V-6 and V-7 a few months thereafter. It seems that all of the big naval powers are getting in readiness for naval reduction.

"Boulder Dam Bared as a Pawn in the Power Row," reads a headline over a Washington story. No occasion for surprise in this. It was repeatedly predicted before the construction of the dam was authorized.

In refusing to lower visa charges to United States tourists, Arthur Henderson, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, announced: "The present government has reluctantly come to the conclusion that in view of the financial sacrifice involved it is impossible at present to modify the visa fees for American citizens." This may be said for the British Labor government: it is not hypocritical: it admits that it is out after the coin. In other words: it's doing a little dollar chasing.

THE HARE AND THE TORTOISE.

Topsy "Just Growed"

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Before the baby is born, all its nourishment comes from the mother. The blood from her heart, purified in her lungs, supplies the needs of the child. Not until the baby is born and "on its own," does the infant make use of its own lungs.

An anxious time is that half minute after a baby's birth! The attendants are on tiptoe, waiting for that expected cry from the infant. It is a moment like David of old experienced when he demanded news of his son, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" When the welcome cry is heard, everybody feels that the baby is safe.

Independent life for the infant begins when the air cells open the first time. Sometimes the newly born suffer from their failure to dilate. This is true of weak, puny undernourished infants. They have not enough vitality to draw in the air necessary to open the lungs.

Older children may suffer from a serious ailment known as collapse of the lungs. Anything that interferes with the free passage of air into the finer tubes and air cells of the lungs, may result in collapse of that portion of the lung.

Many times I have told you of the dangers faced by a child who has a cold, with bronchial involvement. This is particularly true of the feeble, weak youngster. But any child might have one of the small branches of the bronchial tubes plugged by a pellet of mucus. Such a plug might act as a valve, permitting air to pass and nede to enter that part of the lung.

Or a plug of mucus could effectively close the tube. Then it is only a question of time when the air behind it is absorbed. Very soon the lung will collapse.

There are cases in older persons where paralysis of the muscular equipment of the lung occurs. Collapse of part or all of the lung follows.

In measles, whooping cough, influenza, in any condition producing broncho-pneumonia, this unpleasant complication may appear. Wounds of the chest wall, with perforation, may cause the same trouble.

My purpose in speaking of lung collapse is more to warn against it than anything else. There is little to do for it if it actually takes place. But plenty can be done to prevent it.

An infant and young child should be guarded against colds. Their care should be such that resistance to infection is high as possible. Fresh air, sunlight, cleanliness, nourishing food, regular habits—in these are found the surest means of guarding against colds and, for that matter, against all other diseases.

It was all right for Topsy to "just grow." But we want our babies brought up in the best possible manner. Today is the time to begin.

Editorial Opinion.

WHEN WE GREW FASTEST.

The period in which American wealth increased most rapidly is not the one commonly cited. Our fastest-growing years have not been the post-war years. Our national wealth piled up much more swiftly in the years between 1900 and 1912 than in the years between 1912 and 1928, of which the National Industrial Conference board has just published a survey. The figures harmonize with those of the United States census bureau wherever the two come into touch, and we may make use of the census bureau's data for a comparative view over the years.

An elementary precaution in such calculations, which the National Industrial board has not overlooked, is to correct money figures as of any year by the prevalent scale of prices. In the year 1912 our national wealth was $186,000,000,000, and in 1928 it was $320,000,000,000, but the increase in real wealth was not the apparently indicated ninety-three per cent. Because the 1928 dollar represented roughly two-thirds the real value of the 1912 dollar, the real increase in national wealth during the sixteen-year period, as pointed out in the report, was only thirty-seven per cent. In the year 1900, according to the census bureau, our national wealth was estimated at $88,000,000,000, and the apparent increase for 1912 with its $186,000,000,000 would thus be more than 100 per cent. Making the same adjustment for prices between 1900 and 1912, we find that the gain in that period was sixty-eight per cent. Even then this is a yearly accretion of nearly six per cent., as against the less than 2½ per cent. of annual growth in the sixteen years after 1912.

In the matter of per capita wealth the same adjustments between current dollars and prices would show: Nominal per capita wealth $1,150 in the year 1900, $1,900 in the year 1912, $3,000 in the year 1928. Per capita wealth in 1928 dollars: $2,000 in 1900, $2,800 in 1912, $3,000 in 1928. In the twelve earlier years the average American citizen grew richer by 800 dollar-units. In the second period he added 200 dollar-units.

We are today incomparably the richest nation on earth and richer than we have ever been. But the comparison with our own past is not so overwhelming as is generally assumed. It is one more illustration of the unprecedented extent to which we have been using the word "unprecedented" in the last half dozen years. We speak of that amazing revolutionary discovery of Mr. Ford's known as mass-production, as though we had never heard before of quantity production and the factory system. We speak of unprecedented labor-saving devices, as though one never heard of the steam-engine and the spinning-jenny and the multiplication of commodity production a hundredfold. We speak of the menace or the triumph of the machine as though there were no machines in the United States before 1919, and as though there were nothing but machines after 1919—no native American energy, no freedom of opportunity, no human skill and aspiration and vision. It became in the last half dozen years a commonplace that the world and especially the United States had been transformed beyond recognition, so that when the wonder-workers of Wall Street announced that economic law had also been transformed beyond recognition, the people believed them—including the wonder-workers themselves. But the America of 1930 is still recognizable in the America of 1920.

Finally there comes up for revision the question just how much our "fabulous" post-war prosperity has been built up on Europe's impoverishment. The increase of thirty-seven per cent. in our national wealth between 1912 and 1928 is two-thirds the gain of fifty-one per cent. in the decade after 1880—just about equal to the gain of thirty-five per cent. in the bleak decade after 1890, and about one-half of the gain between 1900 and 1912. Whatever may have been our momentary economic embarrassments when the war came in 1914, it is open to argue that without the war we should today be as rich as we are if we kept up our pre-war pace. We might be a good deal richer without the war, having a prosperous Europe to buy our motor cars.—New York Times.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Monday, February 28.

Three hundred persons were rescued in rowboats in Warren when an ice gorge backed up the waters of the Mahoning river and inundated their homes.

Mrs. W. M. Harrington slipped and fell at her home on east Church street and broke her right arm.

The doors of the Commercial club were closed.

Somebody started the story, as a practical joke, that a performing bear which had died at the Orpheum theater had been cut up by a local butcher and was being sold by him for fresh bear meat. The canard caused the butcher a lot of annoyance.

The United Electric company opened an office and workshop in the room adjoining the alley in the rear of the Grand theater.

A marriage license was issued to Bertha Anderson and Frank E. Crossen.

Galileo.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

One of the greatest scientists of history is popularly remembered by an incident and an anecdote. The incident is the dropping of two weights from the leaning tower of Pisa. The anecdote is that when he recanted before the Inquisition, he muttered under his breath: "But it does move, just the same." Surely this famous thinker and intellectual fighter deserves to be more richly and comprehensively remembered.

About the time of the first permanent American settlement, at St. Augustine, Florida, Galileo Galilei was born at Pisa. It was, to be exact, February 15, 1564.

We should remember Galileo as the father of modern physics. His was a philosophy of experimentalism: he questioned everything until he had satisfied himself, by personal experiment, of its accuracy. Born on the day of Michael Angelo's death, Galileo very fittingly is immortalized in the phrase that nature seemed to "signify thereby the passing of the scepter from art to science."

That spirit of restless research which marked Galileo was probably inspired by his father, in whose writings appears this observation, "It appears to me that they who in proof of any assertion rely simply on the weight of authority, without adducing any argument in support of it act very absurdly."

After receiving a liberal education at the monastery of Vallombrosa, and studying medicine at the University of Pisa, Galileo turned his attention to mathematics and physics, rather than to the Aesculapian art. It is duly recorded that he discovered, while a student at the university, the fundamental principle of the pendulum, by noting that the oscillations of the great bronze hanging lamp in the cathedral at Pisa were always performed in the same time. His inventive genius immediately displayed itself in the invention of a simple pendulum—the length of which, when adjusted to synchronism with the pulse, was a measure of its frequency.

A classic feat performed by Galileo was the discovery of four of the satellites of Jupiter. Contrary to the accepted view, he demonstrated with the excellent telescope of his own invention that the surface of the moon, far from being smooth, was highly mountainous; and he even made a fairly close estimate of the altitude of its peaks. In his published studies of cohesion and motion, he states that "if the resistance of the media be taken away, all matter would descend with equal velocity;" and in the same work he derives the correct formulas for uniformly accelerated motion. A recent authority has ventured the opinion that when Galileo deduced by experiment, and described with mathematical precision, the acceleration of a falling body, he probably contributed more to the physical sciences than all the philosophers who had preceeded him.

Galileo deserves remembrance as an inventor—not merely as the maker of an efficient telescope. In 1662 he invented the air thermometer; and also devised a military and geometrical compass. He correctly showed that, under certain limiting conditions, the path of a projectile is parabolic. One of his most famous enunciations is the statement which required such extraordinary intuition, the statement which so completely cleared the way for Newton in his three laws of motion: any body set in motion along a horizontal plane would, if all resistance—friction, atmosphere, etc.—be removed, continue to move on forever. Only a great genius could have enunciated this wide-ranging physical generalization.—Copyright, 1930, International Features Service, Inc.

FANTASTIC CAVERNS FOUND BY EXPLORER

Nicholson Hopes To Discover End of Underground Caves at Carlsbad

Lines which are revealed as shafts of light from your hand lamp pierce the darkness.

Two parties previously have reached the entrance of this new room, but Nicholson was first to penetrate to its interior.

The room is something over two miles underground from the entrance. A tunnel branches off to the right from the main corridor shortly before the "big room" is reached. This tunnel leads to the gorgeously arrayed King's palace, from which branches to the right the "Green room" and to the left the "Queen's room."

From the Queen's room Nicholson made his way through an unpathed tunnel into the immense unexplored room.

He has visited most of the 22 miles of known parts of the cavern which includes the "Big room," in which a 14-story office building could be built without touching the ceiling, to familiarize himself with the work done by previous exploring parties.

Air currents are a major consideration with Nicholson. He will enter no tunnels whose ends are known, but will confine himself to unexplored places with distant air currents and follow those rooms and tunnels if possible, to their ends.

More on Snook Case

walks was quiet today, especially in death row where Dr. Snook has spent the last six months.

Merely Awaiting

Snook's attorneys, who fought their client's case through four courts and into Governor Cooper's office only to lose their last battle there, were merely waiting today, as also was Mrs. Helen Marple Snook, faithful wife of the condemned man, who shook the governor with a powerful plea for clemency yesterday.

Dr. Snook, who earned an international reputation as a pistol marksman in addition to national recognition as a writer on hunting and veterinary surgery, played cards with his death-cell mates until "lights out" time last night. He was cheerful during the card game, but as the night drifted into the fatal day, the doctor became nervous and prison guards feared he might "break" before the time set for his execution.

Only a week ago Snook told newspapermen he "felt" he would get a chance to tell "the true story" of his relations with Miss Hix in another court. However, the U. S. supreme court refused on Tuesday to review his case and Governor Cooper yesterday declined to grant him a fourth reprieve or to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

At Regular Hour

Warden P. E. Thomas, who has discretionary power in setting the hour for executions, said last night he would hold it "after the evening dinner hour," which would set it at the usual time, about 7:30 p. m. At this hour prisoners cannot see the hearse which is driven up to the death house in the darkness.

Mrs. Thomas, who always cooks the last meals for condemned men from a menu selected by themselves, will prepare three meals tonight. The Rev. Isaac Miller, pastor of the King Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, who has attended both Mr. and Mrs. Snook, and Chaplain K. E. Wall of the penitentiary, have asked for and received permission to eat the last meal with Dr. Snook.

Sometime today, Dr. Snook was to be placed in the death house, reaching it after a trip down the corridors of "White City," the recently constructed cell block in which condemned men and unruly prisoners are quartered. His last spiritual advice, if he wants any, will be given him there and his last meal will be eaten there, about 15 feet from the electric chair, on the opposite side of a partition.

Forbids Burial at Home

At the hour set for the electrocution, two guards will take him from the cell and guide him to the electric chair in the presence of Warden Thomas, his deputies and about 25 newspapermen and other spectators. He will be given an opportunity to make a statement, but will not be asked if he wishes to make one, and then he will be strapped into the chair. A deputy warden will throw the switch at the warden's command.

Mrs. Snook has not decided where her husband's body shall be buried. His mother and sister, who reside in Lebanon, have not visited him since his conviction last August in common pleas court here and have specified that he shall not be buried in the family graveyard there. Dr. Snook is said to be distressed at his mother's failure to visit him, although she testified in his defense at the trial.

The eve of Dr. Snook's execution found Ohio penitentiary a focal point for eyes of the morbid and the curious. One woman, representing herself to be a newspaper reporter, attempted time and again to get past the outer guards into death row to see Snook, only to be refused. Her last attempt was made after 1 a. m. today.

Await Outside Prison

Outside the prison a half dozen cars were parked. One was occupied by two young girls; another by a trio of young men in raccoon coats. As guards and newspapermen came from the prison early this morning, the occupants of the cars, with bated breath, asked, "Is it over?" "Has he been executed?" Assured that the electrocution would not occur until tonight, the curious unbelieving, held their stations awaiting the word that Snook was dead.

The crime for which Dr. Snook will pay was committed the night of last June 13, and Miss Hix' body was found by two boys at noon the next day. Dr. Snook was arrested June 15, and confessed June 20, after a terrific grilling, to having committed it. He went on trial July 24, was convicted Aug. 14 and sentenced on Aug. 20, to die Nov. 20.

He received three reprieves, to Dec. 20, to Jan. 31, and then to Feb. 28, as the appellate and supreme courts considered his appeals from conviction.

On Wednesday he retracted his witnessed-and story of perverted relations with Miss Hix, saying it was suggested to him by a physician as a last straw, and that he killed the girl after a quarrel had ended their three-year friendship and when she threatened to expose him and to kill his wife and two-year-old child.

Snook Will Eat Last Meal In Cell Dressed In Tuxedo

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—(INS)—Dr. James H. Snook, who will die in the electric chair at the Ohio state penitentiary some time this evening may eat his last meal clothed in a tuxedo, it appeared today when it was learned that his wife was having the dress suit prepared for wear.

Governor Myers Y. Cooper, who refused to grant the slayer of Miss Theora Hix a reprieve or commutation of sentence yesterday, is in seclusion at his executive mansion. A police guard has been posted around the residence and the telephones have been disconnected.

A furore of excitement swept the prison during the night when a pistol shot reechoed through the corridors. Investigation disclosed that a guard had dropped his pistol and that it had discharged.

Mail and telegrams continued to pour into the prison for Snook. Nearly all of them give spiritual advice. One postal card said, "With all my love, (signed) a former student." Another stated "We have not forsaken you," and it was signed with the one word, "Amen," which is the Latin for "so be it."

Persons continued to storm the penitentiary for permission to see the electrocution, but were turned down flatly.

An extra guard was placed over Dr. Snook as he slept last night.

A telegram from Indianapolis asked: "My dear sir: Would it be possible for me, as a mortician, to witness the execution?" It was ignored.

Telephone calls were the prison officials' greatest worries. Women and men called up and requested permission to pull the switches. One voice inquired if there was a man by the name of Dr. Snook in the prison.

John Hall, captain of the guards at the penitentiary, described Dr. Snook as a "model prisoner."

"He is one of the calmest condemned men we have ever had dealings with," Hall declared.

MASONIC GROUPS GIVE DINNER DANCE

Scottish Rite and Shrine Members Entertain Wives and Friends at Temple

Marion Scottish Rite and Shrine clubs entertained at an informal dinner dance last night at the Masonic temple. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock to 150 members and their wives and friends. The tables were decorated in purple and gold and centered at intervals with vases of roses. Roses were given the women as favors.

Music during the dinner hour was furnished by the Masonic orchestra, under the direction of Bert Myers. The orchestra later furnished music for dancing.

At the close of the dinner hour, the party gathered in the lodge rooms for the presentation of a shower play by the Marion Misses. Presenting the play, Mrs. Harold K. Musser played "The Two Larks," Leschetizky, and responded to an encore.

The play, a comedy, laid in an English garden on a summer day, was presented by Mrs. Frances Hume, Miss Pauline Davis, Miss Hallie Brook, George L. Krause and James R. Shuler. The Misses' cast and Mrs. Krause and Rodney B. Hume were guests of the clubs at dinner.

From 9 to 12 o'clock, the time was given over to dancing. Tables were arranged for those who preferred cards.

The committee on arrangements for the affair was Ass Queen, Jay Vaughan, Dr. John T. Gruber, Charles D. Schaffner, Harry W. Habermann, John F. Davis and Zebedee Stout.

Officers of the two clubs are: Scottish rite, Clarence L. Price, president, Fred L. Clarkart, vice president, and James A. Knapp, secretary-treasurer; shrine club, James E. Messenger, president, John H. Bartram, vice president, and Mr. Knapp, secretary-treasurer.

Altar Wine Is Seized by Prohibition Agents

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 28—(INS)—A ruling from the state prohibition department was awaited here today concerning the right of a Catholic priest to transport wine for sacramental purposes.

State prohibition agents stopped a Tiltonville priest, who was returning to Steubenville from Cleveland yesterday and confiscated five cases of wine. He was released immediately and no charge was placed against him.

The priest has retained an attorney to recover the wine, which is being held by Mayor George Turver at Amsterdam, until state authorities decide on the case.

ANNOUNCE CAST

Doctor Pierce's Clinic

DR. R. V. PIERCE long ago established his clinic in Buffalo, N. Y. If you have awful pains in the back, sometimes in the sides, hip or foot, it's often due to an oversabundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Frequently the sufferer is disturbed at night, often having to get out of bed. The signals of distress, which are easily recognized, and include such symptoms as lumbago, backache, depression, drowsiness, irritability, headache, dizziness, rheumatic twinges and dropsy, are often due to the kidneys not being able to function properly. This is the time to write Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice and send sample of urine for free analysis.

Dr. Pierce's Anuric in tablet form, a prescription which has been very successfully used in the Clinic is now recommended to those who suffer with irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from poisons in the system. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and "Anuric" before meals brings quick improvement. Anuric can be procured from your druggist.—Adv.

Musican Skilled in Novelty Programs Featured as Guest Artist by Columbia

Stan Davis To Entertain as "Saw" Player, Singer and Guitarist

STAN DAVIS, saw virtuoso, and Brook Louis, composer, are to be heard as guest stars of the Brownbilt Footlites program when that feature is broadcast over the Columbia network at 8 o'clock Friday night. Also to be heard during this program are the Robinhood quartet and Buster Brown and his dog Tige.

Besides having established a reputation particularly his own with the musical saw, Davis is also an accomplished player on the guitar and a vocalist of no mean ability, and will give examples of his work in the three mediums. It is said that Davis is the only saw player who has succeeded in obtaining three harmonically perfect notes on the saw at the same time. During his Brownbilt appearance his playing will include several instances of this, as well as several passages in which double notes are quite the usual thing. For his guitar solo Mr. Davis will play "Body in the Bag," a number which he has recently recorded for one of the larger phonograph companies.

When the Robinhood quartet presents "Roses," a new song, they will be accompanied at the piano by the composer, Brook Louis. This will be not only the song's radio premiere but the initial appearance before the microphone of Mrs. Louis, who has written a number of well-known songs.

• • •

STARS OF MELODY FEATURE MINUET

THE selection, "Fly Minuet," one of the most popular Hungarian songs at the present time, will be rendered when the Stars of Melody program under the direction of George Dilworth will be heard over the WJZ network at 7:30 o'clock Friday night. Astrid Fjelde, soprano, Judson House, tenor, and Walter Preston, baritone, will also be heard on the program.

• • •

MEN ABOUT TOWN TO SING NOVELTIES

The Men About Town, a novelty trio, who treat heavy things lightly and boast that they appeal to the musically sophisticated, will be heard over the WJZ network at 8:30 o'clock Friday night. The members of the trio are Jack Parker and Frank Luther, tenors, and Phil Dewey, baritone. Novelty selections will be featured.

• • •

FAMOUS LOVES EPISODE TELLS OF JACKSON

DRAMATIC moments in the love story of Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States, and his wife Rachel, will be presented over the WJZ network at 8:45 o'clock Friday night. Andrew Jackson, who made enemies with extraordinary ease and was feared by many men because of the numerous duels he was reputed to have fought, nevertheless loved his wife with a deep and lasting affection.

• • •

MILITARY MUSIC ON SLUMBER HOUR

The "Minuet and Finale," from Haydn's "Military Symphony" will be the featured selection on the Slumber Hour program which Ludwig Laurier and a string ensemble will broadcast over the WJZ network at 11:15 o'clock Friday night.

• • •

BARRE HILL, TENOR, IS ARMOUR GUEST

Barre Hill, nationally famous concert and operatic tenor, will be featured as guest artist in the Armour program to be broadcast over the WJZ network at 9:30 o'clock Friday night. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is a member of the Chicago Civic Opera company.

"Men About Town" Prepare Entertainment for WJZ Network

Josef Koestner will direct the orchestra.

• • •

EXCERPT FROM "KATINKA" HEARD ON QUAKER PROGRAM

THE Quaker Girl's evening at home will include excerpts from "Katinka," Rudolf Friml's operetta of more than a dozen years ago when she goes on the air with the Armstrong Quakers, broadcasting over the WJZ network at 10 o'clock Friday night. "Don't Ever Leave Me," from Jerome Kern's musical play, "Sweet Adeline," has been selected as a reprise number.

FORFEIT BONDS

11 Persons Fail To Appear in Traffic Court

Fourteen persons forfeited bail when they failed to appear in traffic court this morning in municipal court to answer charges of violating the city's traffic ordinance.

A majority of the forfeitures were by persons who have been given "tickets" by police for driving a "one eye" automobile. Five persons, not residents of this city, were excused from their charges. Two persons were fined, and two other cases were continued.

Fourteen persons were charged with failure to have their automobiles properly lighted, three parked too near fire hydrants, two failed to observe "no parking" signs, while others chose, contrary to ordinance, to park in alleys. One was given a ticket for obstructing an alley, another for parking in a bus stop.

R. D. Mezger was elected president of the Marion club by the directors at a meeting today noon at the club house on South Prospect st.

Other officers named are George Day, vice president; Wilbur Sames, treasurer, and F. S. Wood, secretary.

Frank Knapp was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee, J. C. Woods as chairman of the house committee, and A. W. Kette as chairman of the membership committee.

CLASS MEMORIAL

Trinity Baptist Church Group Honors Former Members

A meeting of the Anna McWilliams class of Trinity Baptist church, yesterday afternoon in the church parlors, was a memorial meeting honoring the memories of Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, Mrs Barbara Roseberry, and Mrs. John Mitchell. Miss McWilliams, president of the class, led the devotional service.

Mrs. Anna Dwyer, as program chairman, announced the following program: Piano solo, "I Must Tell Jesus," Mrs. Florence Tathain, guest of the class; poem, "Old Play Houses," Mrs. A. S. Keeler, poem, "Peace," Mrs Milo Lewis; poem, "Hope," Mrs. Catherine Hazen, poem, "The Old Hymns," Mrs. Anna Dwyer; reading, "The Things Worth While," Mrs Wallace Smith, poem, "Time's Account," Mrs. Samuel Epley, poem, "The Task of Tomorrow" Miss McWilliams.

Mrs. Ralph Epley and Mrs. Tatham were guests of the class. The next meeting, March 27, will be a pot luck dinner at 1 o'clock at the church.

Ladies Auxiliary Meets in Junior Order Hall

Members of Whitney Lodge No. 848, Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who have birthdays in February were hostesses to the lodge at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in Junior Order hall. One application for membership was received and one was balloted on. A class of candidates will be initiated at the next meeting, March 12, when the husbands and families will be entertained with a card party. Hostesses yesterday were Mrs. P. D. Robinson, Mrs. George Bradley, Mrs. Arthur Webb, Mrs. Otto Clark and Mrs. Frank Sheehe. Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. A. B. Crawford won the guessing box and in a contest Mrs. A. E. Northrup and Mrs. H. E. Zieg won first prizes. Refreshments in keeping with Washington's birthday were served.

Hotel Greeters of State Will Hold Meeting Here

Hotel Greeters of Ohio will hold their quarterly meeting at Hotel Harding on March 22, according to announcement here today. No details of the program have been announced.

Between 75 and 100 hotel managers, assistants, and clerks are expected to attend the meeting. Marion entertained the state convention of this association in 1925.

FINK MUSIC CO. LOSES $25,000 STOCK

Firemen Fight Blaze for More Than Three Hours

KENTON, Feb. 28—One man was overcome and a second injured early this morning when a disastrous fire of undetermined origin gutted the Albert Fink Music Co. store at Detroit av. and Columbus st., damaged stock in other nearby business rooms and for a time threatened a greater portion of business houses on the west side of the public square.

Clad only in his night garments, Otis Hopkins, 40, was carried by firemen through the second story window of his apartment and down a ladder to safety. Ralph Jones, volunteer fireman, was cut on the hand and face by falling glass. Both received treatment at the fire department a half block away.

For more than three hours firemen were forced to battle the stubborn blaze, thought to have started near the furnace room under the Fink store and was precautionary measure to prevent the flames got beyond control, called a pumper truck from department No. 2 at Lima.

Dense clouds of smoke that poured from doors and windows of the three story building occupied by the Fink store, and a choking gas made their burst from the heat near the origin of the fire, hampered firemen in their work.

While the loss will mount high, it was impossible to place an approximate damage amount early today. Stock in the Fink store was destroyed. Ten pianos and nine electric Victrolas, all new, burned when they crashed through the floor into the basement occupied by the Irwin barber shop. Nearly 100 radios, more than 1,000 records and other stock burned.

Stock Valued at $25,000

Owners of the store said the stock alone was valued at more than $25,000, being only partially covered by insurance.

Smoke and water caused considerable loss to stock and office equipment in nearby stores and offices. The Irwin barber shop fixtures and stock were ruined while the equipment in the dental offices of Dr. W. H. Rudolph, directly over the Fink store, was damaged by water and smoke as was the equipment in the Reddick insurance office and the Fink Conservatory of Music and the apartment occupied by Hopkins. The third floor was unoccupied.

Stock and furnishings of the Surprise store, a clothing establishment directly south of the Fink store suffered from the water and smoke, as did furnishings in the suite of rooms above occupied by Roof & Schaemer, attorneys. Most of the records, valuable papers and law library were carried to safety.

Volunteer Services

James Ray Flinn, businessman who occupied offices and apartment rooms three doors south of the Fink store was the first to discover the fire being awakened by the smell of smoke. He ran to the street, located the fire and after attempting to arouse Hopkins, called the fire department a short distance away.

First efforts of firemen were directed toward saving Hopkins. Within a short time a huge crowd of spectators gathered and many volunteered their services.

600 Jailed, Man Is Killed in Chase

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—(AP)—A man was killed by policeman, an officer of the law was wounded chasing bandits, and a bomb with a sputtering fuse was discovered in time to prevent a serious explosion early today as police push forward their drive against criminals. Six hundred arrests were made during the 24 hours ended last midnight.

Walter Collins, a negro and non-combatant in a gunfight between eight policeman and a man they sought to arrest, was killed.

Policeman David McLean was wounded twice in the arm when he exchanged shots with two men who attempted to rob him. The robbers escaped.

Move for Peace in Domincan Republic

SANTO DOMINGO, Feb. 28—(AP)—Negotiations looking to peaceful solution of the Dominican Republic revolution continued today with insurgent troops in full control of the capital and larger cities, with the exception of the small Fort Ozama here.

General Trujillo, commander of the army and in personal charge of the small loyal garrison at Fort Ozama, left the fortification to confer with insurgent leaders at the American legation in an attempt to reach an agreement on choice of a provisional president to guarantee unbiased presidential elections in May.

Cedarville Man Going on Trial for Second Time

XENIA, Feb. 28—(INS)—Gilbert Cooper of Cedarville, will go on trial here for the second time, March 18, for the murder of Caleb Hitchcock, it had been announced today. Cooper is charged with murder in the first degree.

Cooper is alleged to have shot and killed Hitchcock during a fight, in November, 1928. He was found guilty of murder at his first trial and the jury recommended mercy, which carried with it a life term in the penitentiary. He was granted a new trial by the Ohio supreme court.

Christian Church Class Meets at Schneider Home

Thirty members of the Loyal Sons class of Central Christian church met with Ollie Schneider, of Forest st., last night. Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, and the Rev. E. R. Swain, of Kirkpatrick, guests of the class, gave short talks. Routine business of the class was transacted, after which a social time with games and contests was enjoyed. Paul Frye won high honors and John Birch was consoled. A regular meeting will be held March 27.

Wyandot County Schools To Compete In Contests

Plan Preliminary Meet at Carey High School at Meeting of School Heads and Music Teachers at Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 28—At a meeting of the superintendents and music teachers of the county schools held Tuesday afternoon in the assembly room of the courthouse arrangements were made for the holding of the annual Wyandot County Literary and Musical contest.

A preliminary contest will be held next month. The county was divided into three sections, North, East, and West, for this contest. The schools comprising this division are North section, McCuthenville, Sycamore and Carey. East section: Eden, Nevada and Harpster. West section: Wharton, Salem and Marseilles. Each of these groups will decide the place, date and judges for the preliminary contest.

Arrange Finals

CAGE TOURNAMENT OPENS AT BUCYRUS

Sulphur Springs Touted To Win; Competition Keen in Two-Day Meet

BUCYRUS, Feb 28—Lykens met North Robinson at 12 o'clock today in the opening game of the Crawford county basketball tournament at the high school auditorium here. Eight games are scheduled to be held today and four games Saturday when the semi-finals and finals will be played.

According to pre-tournament "dope" Sulphur Springs, which has played the entire season undefeated is the favorite to win the tourney. With the exception of Sulphur Springs quintet, competition has been exceptionally keen in the county this year.

Other games scheduled for today are Holmes Liberty vs. Leesville, 1 o'clock, Mt. Zion vs. New Washington, 2 o'clock; Sulphur Springs, vs. Chatfield, 3 o'clock; and Wheatstone vs. Tiro, 4 o'clock.

FIRE MARSHAL TO VISIT MT. GILEAD

Will Investigate Series of Explosions in Business District

MT GILEAD, Feb. 28—The state fire marshal was scheduled to arrive in Mt. Gilead today to determine if possible the cause of the series of explosions in sewer manholes during the past two days.

Samples of the gas which fills many basements in the business section have been sent to the laboratory at Ohio State University to definitely determine whether it is natural gas, sewer gas, or some other gas.

W. W. Ackerman was forced to close his restaurant Thursday by the danger of fire. The restaurant is the closest to the scene of the most violent of the explosions.

The danger of fire or explosions within buildings fronting Main st., is not believed to be great at this time but every effort is being made to clear up the cause of the trouble as soon as possible.
